Venus Spaceship Launched; Flying Slightly Off Course

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —An off-course Mariner 2 spacecraft rocketed into space today on an intended 109-day trip to explore the planet Venus. Despite a severe trajectory error, scientists were hopeful they could correct most of it by remote signals to an on-board motor. (See photos, page 8).

Improper rocket performance released the 447-pound spacecraft on a course that, if followed, would cause it to miss Venus by not more than 600,000 miles when the two make their closest approach Dec. 14.

This is far from the 10-000-mile-distant fly-by that the National Aeronautics and Space Administration had planned.

Just how much the spacecraft can be commanded back to a Venus rendezvous course will not be known until more precise tracking information is available. This may be several days.

Jack James, Mariner manager for NASA's jet propulsion laboratory, said the on-board motor has the capability of making a 500,000 mile correction depending on the position of the spacecraft.

This would mean Mariner 2 could be jockeyed into a path to pass within 100,000 miles of Venus—too great a range for its sensitive instruments to do much probing beneath Venus' heavy blanket of clouds.

But there was a chance refined tracking data might show the present course to be less than 600,000 miles off and that the probe therefore could pass closer to the mysterious bright planet.

James said to be any value in exploring Venus, Mariner 2 would have to approach within 25,000 miles on the sunlit side. He said important data would be gained about interplanetary space between Earth and Venus even if the craft missed by a greater distance, but the main goal of the experiment would be lost.

The key to straightening Mariner 2's trajectory is a 37.3-pound motor which will be fired by ground radio signal eight days after launching when tracking computers have precisely defined the spacecraft's position, altitude and velocity. Then the vehicle will be more than one million miles away from Earth on its intended 180 million mile junket past Venus and into endless orbit about the sun.

Mariner 2 blasted away from Cape Canaveral at 1:53 a.m. atop a powerful Atlas-Agena B rocket. Half an hour later the rocket injected the spacecraft on an interplanetary trajectory.

The exact reason for the spacecraft being off course in its early stages was not immediately known. But officials suspected that an abnormal rolling motion in the first stage Atlas rocket might have affected its trajectory. The rolling motion occurred for about 50 seconds of the five-minute Atlas flight.

A statement released by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration five hours after the launch said:

"Early tracking data from Mariner 2 indicates that the spacecraft will pass Venus by not more than 600,000 miles sometime in the second week in December. Because of incomplete early tracking data it is not now possible to refine this figure to a great accuracy.

"However, the midcourse motor on Mariner 2 may be capable of correcting this misdistance to bring the space-

$18,000 Fire Hits Fairhills Home

Fire swept through four rooms of a San Rafael home early yesterday, causing damage estimated at $18,000.

An entire wing of the home of Louis A. Yuvan, 20 Fairhills Drive, was gutted by flames. Probable cause of the fire was a cigarette left smoldering in a rumpus room, the San Rafael Fire Department reported. The fire spread through the attic and roof to the living room, dining room and a bath.

Louis A. Yuvan Jr., 19, told firemen he left the house at 1 a.m. to spend the night at a neighbor's home. His parents were at Lake Tahoe for the weekend.

At 3 a.m. the fire department received several calls from other residents on Fairhills Drive who heard explosions and saw flames.

The fire was fought until nearly 6 a.m. by 20 firemen and two trucks. San Rafael police were called to help control a large crowd that gathered to watch.

At 7 a.m. Mr. and Mrs. Yuvan returned from their interrupted holiday to find nearly half their home a ruin.

Damage to the house was estimated at $15,000, and damage to contents was about $3,000, firemen said.

SOVIET REJECTS PLEA

Unpoliced A-Test Ban Asked Except For Underground

GENEVA (AP) — Britain and the United States today proposed a treaty for an unpoliced ban on nuclear tests in the atmosphere, under water and in outer space—and the Soviet Union immediately turned a cold shoulder on the idea.

The Western powers proposed to continue working for a treaty to ban tests in all environments — but with provisions for international on-site inspection of suspicious tremors which might indicate underground tests.

Less than two hours after the West offered the partial ban at the 17-nation disarmament conference, Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily V. Kuznetsov turned thumbs down.

Kuznetsov told the meeting he would study the Western draft treaty for a partial ban excluding underground tests. But his subsequent remarks left no doubt his government would reject it.

U.S. Ambassador Arthur H. Dean presented the Western proposal at the 7th session of the 17-nation disarmament conference.

Dean also put before the conference a second British-American draft treaty to ban tests in all environments for all time.

Dean said that this draft includes ideas expressed by the neutralist delegations at the Geneva conference and takes account of improved western methods of detecting underground explosions. But he stressed it also provides for international inspection on the site of a suspicious earth tremor, a provision that assured in advance its rejection by the Russians.

He said the United States and Britain, while still preferring a comprehensive treaty including a ban on underground nuclear explosions, were offering the partial ban in the belief that it would represent "a substantial positive gain for society."

Kuznetsov was quoted by Western conference sources as saying the Western proposal for a partial ban was "a stimulus to nuclear war."

The Soviet delegate insisted that any treaty banning atomic explosions must include underground nuclear tests.

At the same time, conference sources said Kuznetsov rejected out of hand the second proposal, calling for a ban on all tests in all environments for all time, but with provisions for compulsory international inspection on the site of a suspicious tremor which could be an earthquake or a clandestine underground explosion.

President John F. Kennedy and Prime Minister Harold Macmillan said in a joint statement that unlike underground testing, nuclear tests in the atmosphere, underwater and in outer space "can be effectively verified without on-site inspections."

Marin Man Dies In Monterey Surf

In Spear Fishing Contest

A Corte Madera man drowned yesterday off the Monterey coast while taking part in a spear fishing contest.

Robert H. Miller, 36, of 14 Hickory Avenue, Corte Madera, dived into 60 feet of water off Carmel Point and ran out of breath before he could return to the surface, said A. F. Giddings Jr. of San Rafael, a witness to the accident. Giddings, son of state fish and game warden A. F. Giddings Sr., owns a skin diving supply shop in San Rafael.

A Coast Guard patrol boat rushed to the aid of Miller when his body was seen floating about 200 yards off the coast. Attempts at artifical respiration failed, and Miller was pronounced dead on arrival at Peninsula Hospital in Monterey.

A member of the Marin Skin Divers Club, Miller was one of eight Marinites who were among 60 Bay Area skin divers at the competition, sponsored by the Monterey Sun Fish Club.

His wife, Nancy, was among the several hundred spectators on the beach. Friends said she was under heavy sedation today at her home in Corte Madera.

Miller was an electronics technician in San Francisco. In addition to his wife, he leaves a 5-year-old son, Robert Jr.

Funeral services are pending at Keaton's Mortuary in San Rafael.

QUORUM TROUBLE

Demo Conclave Ends In Fight

SACRAMENTO (AP)—The California Democratic Party ended harmony weekend with a big fight last night.

The party passed a detailed, liberal platform with hardly a murmur of dissent, adopted 20 resolutions praising Gov. Edmund G. Brown and blasting Republican Richard M. Nixon and "smear tactics" — then ran into trouble.

It was a fight between Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh of Los Angeles and the California Democratic Council, with Sen. George Miller Jr. of Martinez as their spokesman.

It was over how far an anti-John Birch, anti-Communist resolution should go.

Miller said it should do no more than repudiate both kinds of extremism, right and left.

Unruh said it should also pledge continued efforts to bar John Birchers and Communists from the Democratic Party and the CDC, and to condemn the Republicans for failing to take a stand against the Birchers.

Miller said Unruh's idea was unnecessary and could start a witch hunt, and that the combined strength of the Birchers and the Communists "couldn't hit a loud foul in a Class D League."

Unruh said that if the Democrats didn't say they would exclude extremists, the Republi-

GREENBOROUGH ACCESS DEBATED

A hot policy decision involving use of county condemnation power to help a subdivider acquire land for access was tossed by the Marin County Planning Commission today toward Marin supervisors, who will in turn juggle it at 2 p.m. tomorrow.

Involved was the 1,943-acre Greenborough project, the name of which was announced as being in process of change to "San Marin" to honor the county.

Complaints that at an early stage of this 4,200-home community an intolerable overload will be placed on Novato Boulevard caused the supervisors Aug. 8 to refer a master plan for the area back to the planners in order to find a way to provide an additional access to Highway 101 to the east.

Conferences between planning staff and developers brought forth a scheme today which the commission recommended to the supervisors against bitter protest of attorney Bryan R. McCarthy, acting for the neighboring Nunes ranch.

Though without direct interest in this case, attorney Benjamin P. Bonelli said that due to a comparable situation on the Point Reyes Peninsula he is about to go into court against the county concerning requirement that developers provide access over other people's land to Drakes Beach Estates.

"I fully expect to win," said

$12 Missing From Bank; Man Jailed

FBI agents and Mill Valley police today were investigating the loss yesterday of 12 one-dollar bills taken from four cash drawers at the Wells Fargo American National Bank in Mill Valley.

The $12 is believed to have been taken while two janitors —one from San Francisco and one from Marin City—were at work.

In county jail, charged with grand larceny is Samuel George Thompson, about 30, of San Francisco. Fellow janitor Ronald Kennedy, 19, of 1 Cole Drive, Marin City, working with Thompson, was questioned and released.

Police officers Keith Cramer and Lee Sellers were alerted at 4:44 p.m. yesterday when the burglar alarm sounded at the bank at 18 Miller Avenue, according to Police Chief Dan Terzich.

Going to the bank, Cramer found both men, who said they were finished with their cleaning, leaving the bank.

Red China May Fire Off Bomb

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Communist China probably will be in a position to detonate its first nuclear explosion "within a matter of months," a senior official of the U. S. Arms Control and Disarmament Agency said today.

The official, who declined use of his name, stressed that this would still be a very long way from China's developing nuclear weapons. This would take a matter of years, he said.

The possibility of nuclear testing by Red China was described to newsmen as one example of why the United States wants Russia to sign a limited nuclear test ban treaty if a full treaty cannot be negotiated.

The "alternate" treaty proposed by the United States and Britain today, which would ban all but underground tests, contains a clause in which nuclear powers would pledge not to help other countries develop nuclear weapons.

The official said it was hoped this would dissuade Russia from giving China technical help, without which she could not develop a weapons system for many years.

It has long been known that Red China has been doing scientific nuclear research with the aid of the Soviets. But it is believed that Russia recently has been cutting down this type of aid.

Lacking an industrial base, U.S. officials doubt the Chinese communist regime could get very far in developing a weapons system on its own.

U.S. Pins Berlin Wall Blame On Kremlin

MOSCOW (AP) — The United States, in a note today, held the Soviet Union responsible for shootings and disorders along the Berlin wall and again invited it to a four-power conference to deal with the problem.

The note, delivered to the Foreign Office today, replied to a Soviet note to the United States Friday which protested stoning of Soviet troop buses in West Berlin and warning that "necessary measures" would be taken.

"The U.S. government understands the concern of the Soviet government about the stone throwing at Soviet personnel," the American note said, "but the Soviet government cannot expect to escape censure for, or to avoid the consequences of, permitting brutalities to occur in the sector of the city for which it is responsible."

The note cited what it called the "wanton provocations" in the Eastern sector.

"It should not be necessary to remind the Soviet government," it said, "that the present tensions in Berlin have been caused by the illegal erection of the wall and the senseless cruelty of the police of the Soviet sector."

The note was delivered less than 72 hours after the Soviet note was received, setting something of a record in exchanges between East and West Berlin.

The note called attention to the shooting of an East German youth Aug. 17 by East German police, who let him bleed to death without aid. It recalled also that on Aug. 23 "another young German was shot in the back by the police of the Soviet sector."

He was taken to a West Berlin hospital but died there.

"Despite these wanton provocations," the note continued, "the U.S. authorities in Berlin are maintaining law and order in their sector. All traffic, including that of members of the Soviet armed forces, is moving without incident."

Kennedy Pins Medal On Ex-Captive Of Reds

WASHINGTON (AP) — President John F. Kennedy personally pinned a Bronze Star medal for meritorious cold war service today on Maj. Lawrence R. Bailey, emaciated former captive of Laotian Communists.

In a ceremony in Bailey's room at Walter Reed Army Hospital, Kennedy said the medal was an inadequate token of affection for a test "in many ways more exacting" than service on a battlefield.

E. Berlin Policeman Escapes To West

BERLIN (AP) — An East German policeman took advantage of the changing of the guard today to escape across the Red wall to West Berlin.

Eyewitnesses said the policeman found himself alone for a few minutes while border guards were being changed along the wall.

Algiers-Based Guerrillas Trying To Rule Whole Nation

ALGIERS (AP) — A group of young guerrilla officers proclaiming leftist, anti-Western views sought today to impose their will on Algeria.

The officers lead some 20,000 unruly troops of the guerrilla Wilaya zone No. 4 occupying Algiers and the surrounding area.

The guerrillas' physical control of the capital gave them power and influence far beyond their relative strength. They paralyzed Deputy Premier Ahmed Ben Bella's political Bureau and forced it Saturday to abandon its powers as the provisional government only three weeks after taking office.

The bureau's withdrawal brought new chaos to the infant nation. Ben Bella flew to Oran, in western Algeria, where he felt sure of the loyalty of the Guerrillas of Wilaya No. 5.

The guerrilla warlords were more than ever in unchallenged control of their areas. Progress toward a centralized government was once more brought to a standstill.

The election of a Constituent Assembly scheduled Sept. 2 was put off indefinitely. No one could forecast when and how Algeria would obtain an elected legislature and an effective elected civilian government.

Wilaya No. 4 issued a fiercely worded statement accusing the Political Bureau of betraying the Algerian revolution.

The statement, read to a crowded news conference, demanded an emergency meeting of the old revolutionary "parliament," the National Council of the Algerian Revolution (CNRA) to revise the nation's political leadership.

The 72-man council met in Libya during the Algerian war and laid down general policy for the nationalists. Members of the council belong to various factions of the National Liberation Front (FLN), the dominant nationalist group during the rebellion against France. Their public following has never been tested at the polls.

The guerrillas' 3,000-word statement was filled with bitter attacks on Algerian "neo-colonalists," "feudalists" and former collaborators with the French.

The statement called for land reform and socialization of industry through unconditional expropriation. It justified the guerrillas' arbitrary arrests, seizures and searches in Algiers as a continuation or the struggle against terrorism by the European Secret Army Organization.

It dismissed Western diplomatic protests against rape, looting and general insecurity as coming only from "representatives of NATO countries whose support of French imperialism is notorious." The statement suggested that the protests were not worth considering because they did not come from African-Asian or Communist diplomats.

A spokesman for the guerrilla command admitted that only one of the other five guerrilla zones, No. 3 controlling the Kabylie Mountains east of Algiers, had expressed support for Wilaya 4's position. There are an estimated 40,000 guerrillas in the other five wilayas.

Princess Radziwill tried it, too. She managed one-third of the course and then sank.

As though to say, "well, this is how you do it," Mrs. Kennedy got on her skis again and finished the course for her sister.

ANKARA (UPI)—Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson held "most important and quite helpful" talks on U.S. economic aid today with Turkey's President Cemal Gursel and Prime Minister Ismet Inonu.

The government and party command said the new anthem should "reflect the heroic struggle and victory over fascism and capitalism and full faith in the victory of peace and communism in the world."

Daughter For Hassan

ROME (UPI) — A baby-faced Moroccan teen-ager gave birth to a daughter by King Hassan II of Morocco here last night, one day after the monarch flew home from a private visit to Italy.

Dr. Pietro Ricci of Rome's Quisisana Clinic said the mother and the baby were both doing "extremely well."

A Rome newspaper said the king had married the young girl "without pomp, in the Alqouite tradition," some time ago. It said the wedding had been performed by Moslem priests in the presence of members of the royal family.

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—Three white teen-agers wandered through New Orleans during the night and at random shot and wounded nine Negroes with a pellet-type target pistol.

Police said seven Negroes were hospitalized, one of them in serious condition. Names of the white youths, aged 14 and 15, were withheld.

The Negroes were shot in retaliation for a raid into the suburb of Algiers last week when windshields were shot out of several automobiles, police said.

McKay referred to the establishment of the first "stake" in Glasgow, which he formally opened before 3,500 persons.

Marxists Meet To Score Common Mart

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Soviet Union convened a meeting of Marxist economists from a score of nations today to discuss how to deal with such Western economic challenges as the European Common Market.

A 10-000-word article published in the Soviet Communist Party newspaper Pravda yesterday, sharply condemning Western capitalism in general and the Common Market in particular, provided what apparently will be the main working paper of the conference.

The article was prepared by the Institute of World Economics and International Relations of the Soviet Academy of Sciences, sponsor of the conference. The theme of the conference is "the problems of modern capitalism."

The Pravda article accused the Common Market six—France, Italy, West Germany, Belgium, Luxembourg and The Netherlands—of fostering German militarism, exploiting the working classes and tying the economies of underdeveloped nations to "the whole coalition of imperialistic powers."

Premier Nikita Khrushchev also personally attacked the Common Market in a signed article in the party's ideological monthly, Kommunist. The article has been circulating in the West in international communism's journal titled "Problems of Peace and Socialism."

In it he calls for greater cooperation, effort and coordination among the Communist bloc nations to meet the Common Market's competition.

Six Children Perish In Fresno Fire

CLOVIS (AP)—The six children of Ben and Betty Funk died in a fire that destroyed their new home in this Fresno suburb yesterday despite valiant rescue tries by the father and nighbors.

One teen-age neighbor smashed through a window into the blazing home and, with hands slashed by broken glass, handed out four of the children. But they apparently were dead at the time.

The father and others broke more windows in desperate rescue attempts but were turned back by intense heat.

Fire Chief W. E. Riley said afterward the window smashing may have worsened the situation. "It let in wind drafts," he said.

The dead children were: Dennis, 9; Howard, 8; Charlotte, 7; Shirley, 6; John, 3, and Deborah, 21 months. Deputy Coroner Walter Sechler said all had suffocated.

Authorities said cause of the fire was not immediately apparent and may not be learned for several days, pending check of the ashes.

Funk, 32, a cabinet maker, was awakened by his wife, 28, at about 1:30 a.m. with a cry of fire.

He broke a window of their bedroom and tumbled outside, cut by glass fragments. Then Funk and his brother, Leonard, 20, who had been sleeping in the back yard, pulled Mrs. Funk through the window.

Her leg was broken when it became entangled between frame and sill.

Russell Welch, 19, who lives two houses away, heard screams of alarm, ran to help and battered in through a window.

He told newsmen later he found three of the children in bed and two others on the floor.

"I thought at the time they were dead," he said, but, while neighbors sprayed water on him with a lawn hose, he handed four of them outside to another neighbor. An unidentified policeman brought out the other two.

The children's bodies were placed on the lawns of their home. By the light of flames and searchlights, firemen and neighbors tried mouth-to-mouth resuscitation and other means of revival, to no avail.

The parents were taken to a Fresno hospital for treatment of shock and their injuries.

Rattlesnake Killed Near Swim Pool

A rattlesnake was killed Saturday near the swimming pool of a Kent Woodlands home.

Kentfield firemen said the snake was seen by the son of Henry W. Wagner Jr., 215 Woodlands Road, near the pool at the Wagner home. Firemen killed the snake, which was 26 inches long, with a shovel.

Telephone Call Saves Office From Blaze

A warning by telephone prevented a San Rafael real estate office from destruction by fire Saturday afternoon.

Fred F. Bobo called San Rafael police late Saturday to tell them he was more than 100 miles away and suddenly remembered the electric hot plate had been left on in his office at 2690 Redwood Highway, near the south edge of town.

Police entered the office and found it full of smoke. The hot plate had already burned through its shelf, and the adjacent wall was on fire. The Marin County Fire Department was called to extinguish the fire.

If Bobo had called a half hour later, firemen said, the entire building would have been in flames.

Police Seeking Man Suspected Of Worthless Checks

Robert G. Palmer, 34, wanted in Corte Madera on suspicion of passing $700 in worthless checks, has refused to waive extradition from Nevada, Police Chief Frank Nelson reported today.

Sgt. David L. McIntosh visited the Marin district attorney's office and arranged to have extradition proceedings started, Nelson said.

"We've also sent the necessary papers to Reno police to hold him as a fugitive," Nelson said. Palmer was arrested in Reno last Friday on information from Corte Madera.

Palmer and his wife operated a gift shop for two months at 34 Tamalpais Drive. They left town July 23.

Two Are Selected For Christopher Unit

Two persons were named officers on the Marin County Christopher-for-Lieutenant Governor Committee, Marin chairman Elmer Worland announced today.

Named vice-chairman was Charles Michaels, president of the Marin County Young Republicans and an employees and relations representative for a San Francisco firm. Appointed women's vice-chairman was Mrs. Greta Samet of San Anselmo, past vice-president of the Marin Federation of Republican Women.

In Better Condition

Eugene A. Yates of Ross whose leg was speared by a sharp piece of lumber at the Novato Lumber Co. last Monday was reported in excellent condition at Ross General Hospital.

Child, 7, Injured In 3-Car Wreck

A seven-year-old child was hurt in a three-car chain-reaction collision on Highway 101 south of Novato last night. Later in the evening and early today two cars rolled over on Marin County highways without serious harm to occupants.

Treated at the Novato Hospital for forehead cuts and bruises was Michael Schinkel, son of Paul E. Schinkel of Irvington, Alameda County, driver of a southbound car which at 6 p.m. broadsided under severe braking as traffic backed up ahead. Schinkel's car struck the side of a vehicle driven by Anna M. Canes of San Francisco which in turn had swerved to avoid a third car driven by Irwin S. Silver of San Francisco but which struck it lightly. The boy was released after treatment.

Three hours later Karl S. Kropf of 147 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, Ross, driving west from Belvedere, turned off the Tiburon Boulevard connection to Highway 101 and left the road.

Knopf's car skidded as he was rounding the curve and when he braked, it rolled over with only minor injury of the driver who was alone. But the California Highway Patrol cited him on a charge of driving at a speed unsafe for conditions. Kropf declined hospitalization.

Scammell Meade Badger Jr. of 254 Brookside Drive, San Anselmo, had just come off the Richmond-San Rafael bridge westbound at 1:30 a.m. today when he saw an east-bound vehicle approaching in his lane, he told the patrol.

He turned his car left, it skidded and rolled 150 feet across the road just west of the San Quentin on-ramp. Twenty feet of chain link fence was torn down after he went across the road shoulder. Badger said he wasn't hurt.

BACKYARD TROUBLE

Bold Deer Stage A Family Fight

Deer in West San Rafael are getting so bold that they think nothing of carrying on their family arguments in the back yards of residents' homes.

Saturday at 8:30 a.m. Mrs. H. Burnell of 80 East Crescent Drive, watched four dear, three bucks and a doe, come up her driveway, hop a stone wall and then a rail fence to get into the back yard where the bucks began to fight.

One buck had horns with three forks, another two and the third, spikes. They locked horns and went round and round a small pine tree, recently planted in the yard.

The commotion brought the neighbors out in force.

"We had quite a crowd," Mrs. Burnell said. She was afraid one of the deer might get hurt. Mr. and Mrs. Burnell had an injured doe in their back yard last spring and a man from the humane society had to come and shoot it. Mrs. Burnell did not want a repeat of that experience.

The deer finally became aware that they had attracted a large crowd of humans. They hopped over the rail fence, jumped the wall and went down the drive and west on East Crescent Road.

"Someone said they went over to West Crescent," Mrs. Burnell said. "After that, I don't know where they went."

There was some trampled ice plant in the Burnell yard, but no other damage. The little tree was undamaged.

2 Injured In Head-On Crash

Two persons were injured Saturday in a head-on collision on Highway 1 east of Tennessee Valley Road.

Treated at Marin General Hospital for minor cuts and bruises were Medillo T. Velasco, 30, of 319 Starling Road, Mill Valley, the driver of one of the cars, and Sam Azzopardi of San Francisco, a passenger of the other car, driven by James M. DeBono, 47, also of San Francisco.

The California Highway Patrol said DeBon's car was headed north on the wrong side of the road about 6 a.m. at a curve when it collided with Velasco's car, headed south.

Non-Swimmer Has 20-Hour Ordeal

POMPANO BEACH, Fla. (AP) —"For God's sake, George, please try to make land. I can't swim at all!"

Those were the agonized words of Max Butcher, 25, father of six, when a 21-foot boat sank under him and two companions in the Atlantic Ocean about 10 miles offshore.

Butcher's companions, George Hardy, 38, and Peter Thorn, 21, finally managed to make shore on their own — Hardy after 12½ hours, Thorn after 14 hours. The Coast Guard plucked Butcher from the sea around noon yesterday, about 20 hours after his ordeal began. All three are automobile salesmen in Pompano Beach.

His voice weak and his throat raw from sea water and constant calls for help, Butcher told a story of fear, hope, despair and rescue.

"I was numb. All I could think about were the sharks somewhere out there and I new I'd never see my wife or kids again.

"Both George and Pete were wonderful. They kept reassuring me they would stay with me and began lashing life jackets and seat cushions around my shoulders and waist.

"After about 10 minutes, Pete said he would try to make shore and alert air-sea rescue teams.

"He soon was hidden by the towering seas, followed closely by our countless prayers. George had lashed us together so we wouldn't drift apart, but the coarse line wrapped around my leg caused me to fear the irritation would draw blood and hungry sharks, so I asked him to cut the line.

But as he did the swift current drew him away and I froze with fear. I suddenly realized he had the only knife.

"I was defenseless. He hollered back to be brave and to stay afloat until rescuers reached the scene. Then he was gone and I prayed for him because I believed he had drowned.

"Time passed — maybe two hours—and then as if in a dream someone cried 'Butch.' That's what Pete always called me and sure enough there he came swimming over a wave right up to me.

"The current was too much to make land, he told me, so he decided to head back and give me a hand.

"I guess it was about 3 a.m. when a large vessel passed within 50 yards and we literally leaped for joy out of the heavy seas, calling repeatedly 'Help us; in God's name, please save us!"

But their cries were not heard.

"At about 8 a.m. we found ourselves about a mile off a beach that later proved to be Juno. Pete said he would try to swim ashore and get help. I prayed hard for his safety as he struck out for shore.

"Maybe it was 11 or 11:30 a.m. when a helicopter flew near and I managed to wave my location. But the chopper flew away, leaving me more alone than I've ever felt in my life.

"Convinced all hope was now gone, I turned my face toward heaven and told God if it was His will then I was ready and with that I slipped out of my life jacket and cushion and prepared to die.

As the first surge of sea water filled my mouth and blinded my eyes I heard the blast of a ship's horn. 'God, you've answered my prayer,' I whispered.

"There came a beautiful Coast Guard cutter and when the crew saw my condition several sailors dove over the side and helped me aboard."

Hub Boy, 6, Saved From Pool Drowning

A San Rafael man was credited today with saving 6-year-old Craig Allen from drowning at the boy's home in San Anselmo yesterday.

The boy, the son of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Allen of 29 Camino de Herrera, was pulled from the pool by Bronce Chapin, 22, who noticed Craig struggling to surface about 5:30 p.m. Chapin immediately applied mouth-to-mouth resuscitation. In a few minutes the youngster began to breath normally.

He was taken to the San Anselmo Fire Department and given oxygen. Firemen said the boy at the time was in good condition but, was suffering from shock. He was taken by private car to Marin General Hospital, where today he was reported resting and recovering satisfactorily.

Chapin, a San Rafael plasterer, was visiting the Allens when the incident occurred. Mrs. Allen said today her son might not be alive except for Chapin's prompt action.

The boy's father owns Allen Heating and Sheet Metal in Fairfax.

Police then called the FBI. The theft came under federal jurisdiction because the bank is a member of the Federal Reserve System.

OBITUARIES

Publisher Walter Murphy Dies

Walter Lewis Murphy, 84, publisher of the Sonoma Index-Tribune and uncle of four San Rafael residents died this morning in a Sonoma hospital after a long illness.

Murphy was a former postmaster of Sonoma and a Spanish-American War veteran. His late wife, Celeste, who was co-publisher of the weekly paper, was one of the first editors of the San Rafael Independent. She died May 10.

Murphy was the brother of the late Ralph E. Murphy, San Rafael contractor, whose three sons, Everett, Richard and Leonard now operate the business. Their father died in March, 1955. A niece of Walter Murphy, Miss Frances G. Murphy, is also a San Rafael resident.

Highway Not Seen As Zoning Threat

County Planning Director B. D. Dobbs said today it is unlikely that relocation of Highway 101 in the vicinity of Novato will threaten "rural type living" in the Atherton Valley area.

But he obtained a Planning Commission continuance to Oct. 1 of the Atherton Valley Property Owners' rezoning petition, aiming largely at one-acre minimum lot sizes, because of time needed to spread information of staff proposals for various parts of the large territory based on expressed desires of property owners.

"I now believe that no freeway route will be accepted which will cross this land," said Dobbs with special reference to the "C" and "K" routes which haven't been completely deleted, he said, but which now seem shelved.

Two Satisfied Over Greenbrae Recreation Poll

Two residents in the neighborhood that would have been affected by building of a private recreation club at Los Cerros Drive and Manor Road expressed satisfaction today that 93 per cent of voters in a poll throughout Greenbrae opposed the scheme.

About 400 persons answered one or more questions in a questionnaire sent to about 925 homes by the Greenbrae Property Owners Assn.

J. Barry Cooke of 515 Los Cerros Drive and George E. McKenna of 505 Los Cerros Drive said they were pleased that so many residents not living close to the area directly affected voted as they did opposing a club on land owned by the Greenbrae Co.

The club for Greenbrae residents had been proposed by a group of east bay investors. The property owners association sent a tally of the votes to Niels Schultz Jr., representing the owners of the eight and one half acres of the land.

While the poll was being conducted Cooke and others living near the area and styling themselves minority members of the association expressed fears that they might be outvoted by residents living farther away from the proposed site.

Cooke and the others held a meeting Aug. 17 at the home of Dr. Albert de Ferrari. Later they distributed letters to the doors of about 1,000 Greenbrae homes, expressing their opposition to a club in the proposed area.

Ditch-Digger Cuts Telephone Service

About 150 families in the Peacock Gap area were without telephone service today after a contractor's ditch-digging equipment hacked into an underground cable, said Gordon Davenport, manager of Pacific Telephone Co. in San Rafael.

The cut occurred off San Pedro Road at about 9:30 a.m., Davenport said. The digging machine severed about 200 wire "pairs" in a 600-pair cable. Davenport said the cable right of way was marked with signs urging caution by excavators.

Novato Business Zone Plea Before Planners

Rezoning land near the Nave Shopping Center in Novato from limited agricultural to commercial use will be considered by Novato planning commissioners for the third time when they meet at 8 p.m. today in the community house at 906 Machin Avenue, Novato.

Rezoning o fthe 4.6 acres, located south of the shopping center on South Novato Boulevard and owned by Richard J. and Olivia Connell, has been protested by attorneys representing the Nave Shopping Center.

Commissioners will also hear a request from L. Von Tagen and J. A. Butler to rezone two acres of land east of Railroad Avenue near Orange Avenue from single family to multiple housing use.

Other business includes a request by Harry Johnson to rezone lots 2 through 16 in the Essner Park subdivision off Madrone Avenue from single family to multiple family use; a request from the Marin Oaks Development Co. to build a temporary track office at 180 Fairway Drive in the Marin Golf and Country Club Estates subdivision; and a request from Marin Neon Co. to put up a sign on the northeast corner of Highway 101 at Grant Avenue.

PLAN

Bonelli.

Acting chairman Niels Schultz Jr. said the commission had told the Greenborough developers that they must provide a new right-of-way but that indications were they couldn't meet the requirement by ordinary bargaining, "so the county offers its assistance to help a traffic condition, in the public interest."

Principal planner David Van Pelt said the question was one of timing as the county has said in this case that a road must precede development, rather than allow pressure to build a need for road. He estimated that the area will ultimately contain 13,000 population.

All five commissioners present voted to recommend the proposed plan.

Terms of the plan included:

1. That the developers (Greenborough Corp. and Sunset International Petroleum Corp.—expected to put 100 million dollars into the project) shall try to acquire right-of-way within three months.

2. If this doesn't succeed the county shall exercise eminent domain to help the developers buy the necessary land.

3. Unless the county so acts it must change its requirement that the developers must find such access route.

"You're reaching a very serious policy decision," said McCarthy, "where you put the power of condemnation into private hands, in effect, and without consent of property owners who are not willing to sell anything."

McCarthy said the Nunes property has been used for dairy purposes for the past 50 years, and there might be desire to continue such use another 50. Despite the growing "one-world concept everywhere," he declared, this is excessive in principle.

craft considerably closer to Venus."

Although Mariner 2 was released into space at a speed of 25,500 miles an hour, it gradually began to slow down as planned for the long haul on the 109-day journey.

Jack James, Mariner project manager for NASA's jet propulsion laboratory, said rolling might have damaged other instruments in the spacecraft which might affect its operation in the coming weeks.

"The spacecraft was not designed for severe buffeting," he said.

"We probably won't know until Dec. 14 whether the mission is a complete success."

Felon Gets 10 Years For Slaying

San Quentin convict Michael C. Ison, 22, was sentenced to an additional 10-year term in prison today in Marin Superior Court for the killing of fellow inmate Thomas Devers, 24.

Ison pleaded guilty Aug. 7 to manslaughter in the Dec. 18 slaying of Devers, who had just confessed his part in a dope-smuggling ring involving several San Quentin prisoners. Ison already is serving six months to 10 years for a felony assault in San Francisco.

Judge Thomas F. Keating said the additional sentence would be subject to reduction by the California Adult Authority. Ison's attorney, public defender Peter Allen Smith, protested the sentence, saying Ison had a "difficult background." Smith asked for a concurrent sentence.

But Judge Keating said it was "not advisable to make a sentence concurrent when the crime was committed in prison."

Check Your Spine As Well As Your Car

by Dr. Robert W. Pearce

The wise motorist will have his car checked and repaired as soon as any of the important parts begin to show signs of wear and tear. Most car owners know that continued driving of an automobile with a faulty carburetor or distributor will cause damage and inefficiency in other parts of the vehicle.

The same thing happens when disease overtakes us. If we neglect a digestive fault for instance, the intestines, liver, gall bladder, circulatory system, the heart and other organs soon will begin to lose their efficiency because of the extra demand placed upon them.

But because of the body's amazing system of defenses, some time may pass before we notice the symptoms which indicate disease. Symptomatic pain is a warning signal that something is wrong and requires attention.

Most of us agree with the old saying that an "ounce of prevention is better than a pound of cure." But how can we be sure of prevention?

The nervous system is the master system of the body. When the flow of nerve energy to any organ or part is blocked, disease will occur in that organ or part. Such interference in the nervous system nearly always occurs in the spine, which carries the main nerve cables.

When a spinal bone or vertebrae is pushed out of line by a fall or an accident, it will press, pinch or stretch one or more of the nerves inside or just outside the spine. As a result, the organs affected will not get their proper nerve supply and may become diseased. The obvious answer then is to repair the nerve supply.

Chiropractors specialize in finding and correcting nerve interference in the spine. The adjustments they are able to make with their trained hands are painless and effective.

Soprano Costa A Fine Presentation

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

Soprano Mary Costa's glorious voice proved at yesterday afternoon's third Marin Music Chest concert of the 28th season why she is one of the fastest rising stars on the American operatic horizon today.

That this was one of the finest of recent music chest presentations was the consensus of many of the musically knowledgeable of the audience who nearly filled Forest Meadows in San Rafael.

It is a temptation to pile adjective on adjective in defiance of journalistic style in describing Miss Costa's voice and total talent.

In the Schubert songs "Liebesbotschaft," "Gretchen Am Spinnrade" and "Der Hirt Auf Dem Felsen" her voice had lyric loveliness and purity. This was also evident in the recitative and aria "Selva Opaca" from Rossini's "William Tell."

In the area "So Shall The Lute and Harp Awake" from Handel's "Judas Maccabaeus" its sinuous flexibility was notable, as well as in the dazzling coloratura passages in the area "Ah Fors E Lui" from Verdi's "La Traviata." It soared and dipped through wide intervals with the effortless grace of a bird.

Dramatic piquancy was the quality outstanding in the two operatic encores consisting of Musetta's waltz song from "La Boheme" by Puccini and Adele's laughing song from "Die Fledermaus" by Johann Strauss.

Miss Costa's velvet textured tone wove a spell in Dvorak's seven gypsy songs and in the three from Norman Curtis' "Songs of Innocence."

In addition to all this vocal accomplishment the young soprano has a sparkling personality and enchanting appearance. In short, she has everything for the kind of roles she sings.

The tonal combination of the voice with the clarinet played by Philip Fath was pleasing and added the spice of variety to the program in Schubert's "Der Hirt Auf Dem Felsen." Completing reasons for enjoyment of the concert was Gerhard Albersheim's mastery of the art of accompaniment.

Copland's arrangement of the hymn "Shall We Gather At The River" was a deft way for placing a final period at the end of the concert.

Home Periled By Illegally Started Blaze

Fire, caused by illegal burning in an incinerator, burned grass to within 10 feet of the home of Lilyan Cole of 4144 Paradise Drive, Tiburon yesterday afternoon. It was put out by 18 firemen after burning about 5,000 square yards in area.

Charles Pruett, Tiburon fire prevention officer, said today the fire was in distinct violation of burning regulations. He said regulations require no fires be started without permission, there is no burning after 11 a.m. and no burning in non-inspected incinerators.

Fed by strong winds, the fire burned over a sheer cliff to come within 10 feet of Miss Cole's home and her beach cottage. The fire, Pruett said, was started by George L. Norton of 4170 Paradise Drive who was burning in a garbage can in the middle of a grass field.

Bruce Will Submit Personnel Proposal

Long-deferred modernization of Marin County personnel policy on county employees will come near achievement tomorrow when Administrator Alan Bruce, serving concurrently as personnel chief, will submit to county supervisors a set of new proposed rules agreed upon between the Personnel Commission and himself.

This development represents a peaceful amalgamation of ideas of Bruce and the commission after a period of strife culminating in Bruce's discharge of Asst. Personnel Administrator Stella Hughes, subsequent support of Miss Hughes by the commission, but eventual support of Bruce's stand by the supervisors.

Bruce had earlier sought to persuade the supervisors that current rules need revision but they took no position and the commission seemed hostile. Later the commission and Bruce got together, found themselves able to reconcile their differences, and turned out revised rules as requested by the board after it found state help could be had only through a costly contract.

Bruce will also report to the board on results of a recent poll of county employees on whether a change should be made on the present plan of group medical insurance.

Clerk George Gnoss is to tell the board how another poll of county employees has shown sentiment as to change in the present retirement plan. The board declined, due to short notice, to consider putting any change in effect in the budget just approved—especially as the cost would be $200,000 a year.

Featured on the Public Works Department afternoon agenda starting at 1:30 p.m. following the morning meeting from 9 a.m. will be a hearing on the proposed Stinson Beach-County water district.

An agenda item has to do with views of the State Department of Public Works concerning the much-argued Novato portion of Highway 101.

The planned community master plan of Greenborough, 100-million-dollar development near Novato, is expected to be back with the supervisors after a second Planning Commission hearing today.

Sausalito Seeks New Employees

Sausalito is recruiting for four new employees—two full time, two part time — as allowed for under the 62-63 budget, City Manager Charles A. Brown said today.

The city seeks a police officer, with salary range of $450 to $540 per month; a maintenance man, salary to be $392 to $470 monthly and two temporary police clerks at a rate of $1.75 per hour.

Deadline on applications, obtainable at the city hall, is Sept. 14.

Multiple sclerosis, which results from degeneration of the sheath-like covering that surrounds nerve fibers in the brain and spinal cord, hardly ever occurs in the Orient, South America, Africa, the tropics, or sub-tropics. Yet an estimated 250,000 Americans are affected by the disease.

The highest paid baseball players in recent years have been Ted Williams and Stan Musial, both of whom received in the neighborhood of $100,000 in their peak seasons.

Reunion Ends In Death For Five Near Napa

NAPA (AP) — An anxious husband watched the auto he was following disappear into the dark on Highway 29 some 13 miles north of here.

His wife, infant daughter, brother and two family friends were in the car ahead.

The husband fell a mile behind, but caught up a couple minutes later only to find the car crumpled against a tree.

All five had been thrown out. Four were dead. The fifth died later at a hospital.

They were Mrs. Felizitias Cordova, 21, his wife; their 14-month-old daughter Sussana; Cordova's brother, Arthur L. Cordova, 22, the driver, all of Patterson in Stanislaus County; and Modesto Garcia, 17, and her brother, Edward R. Garcia, 13, both of Napa.

The grief-stricken husband told the Highway Patrol he and the others were returning from a family reunion Saturday night at a Napa Valley winery.

Nearly 14 per cent of all U.S. workers reported in the 1960 census that their place of work was outside the county in which they lived.

COMEDIANS STEAL SHOW

Film Producer Goldwyn Feted For 50th Year In Business

BEVERLY HILLS (UPI)—Hollywood's biggest party of the year, 1,100 strong, honored producer Sam Goldwyn last night on his 80th birthday and his 50th anniversary in motion pictures.

The International Ballroom of the Beverly Hilton Hotel was filled with stars and other film celebrities.

Toastmaster George Jessel shared the rostrum with such dignitaries as Sen. Jacob Javits (R.-N.Y.) California gubernatorial candidate Richard M. Nixon, producer Y. Frank Freeman, Irene Dunn, Frank Sinatra and James Stewart.

As at most filmland testimonial dinners, the comedians ran away with the show.

Jack Benny berated Goldwyn for making a shambles of the comedian's old radio show when he ad libbed the wrong punch line.

Harpo Marx, the mute member of the famed Marx brothers, held up a sign reading, "unaccustomed as I am—," and then spoke briefly about the old days with the famed producer.

"He's the D. W. Griffith of the rat pack," Milton Berle said. Berle then turned his attention to Nixon and said, "Kennedy's in Massachusetts and Jackie's in Italy, Dick, now's your chance to get into the White House.

"Sam is a remarkable guy. He speaks five languages—all at the same time."

Former Vice President Nixon quoted from Sophocles, "One must wait until the evening to see how splendid the day has been," and pointed out that this was the evening of Goldwyn's career and that his days had been indeed splendid.

Bob Hope said, "I don't often appear at testimonials for other comedians. But anyone who lives to be 80 in Los Angeles deserves a dinner."

Frank Sinatra and Eddie Fisher sang in tribute to Goldwyn, who produced such hits as "The Best Years of Our Lives," "The Secret Life of Walter Mitty," and "Guys and Dolls."

Joey Bishop brought down the house by observing, "I never had the pleasure of meeting Mr. Goldman. 'But I know he must be a wonderful man to ask a total stranger to his party."

Police Investigating $300 In Cash Theft

Police today were investigating the theft of $300 in cash from a safe and desk at Bell's Draperies, 1212 Fourth Street, in San Rafael.

The store's owner Charles C. Bell told police $200 was taken from a small safe and another $100 from a petty cash box in a desk drawer sometime Saturday. Police said the thief apparently got in the store with a key.

Tickets On Sale For Chevalier Museum Benefit Concert

Tickets are now on sale for Maurice Chevalier's opening night benefit for the Louise A. Boyd Natural Science Museum, San Rafael.

Chevalier opens Sept. 11 at the California Masonic Memorial Temple at California and Taylor streets in San Francisco. The first of five evening performances, it has been entitled: "An Evening with Maurice Chevalier."

There will be evening performances only, Sept. 11-15. Tickets are on sale at 414 Geary Street. The box office opens daily, Sunday excepted, at 10 a.m.

MAURICE CHEVALIER
To sing for benefit

The French entertainer expressed regret earlier this week by letter to museum president David N. Plant that he will not be able to visit the museum while he is in the Bay Area. Chevalier is on a six week tour of the United States. He will celebrate his 74th birthday Sept. 12.

Chevalier was an apprentice engraver, carpenter and joiner and an operator of a machine in a thumbtack factory before he decided to chuck it all for a career in the theater. He danced in small Parisian cafes until his first success in the Folies Bergere.

During World War I he was wounded and captured by the Germans and spent 26 months in a prison camp. It was while in this German prison he learned to speak English. He escaped and was awarded the Croix de Guerr upon his return to France.

Following the war he returned to the Folies Bergere, starring with Mistiguett. In 1918, he made his first London appearance with Elsie Janis in "Hullo America" which ran for two years.

Hollywood called and he made his motion picture debut in "The Innocents of Paris." Next came "Love Parade," but prior to this, he made his New York debut under the Ziegfeld banner, appearing with Paul Whiteman and Helen Kane.

After World War II, he created his one-man show, and since then he has appeared with the show all over the world. He smashed all attendance records at the Greek Theater in Los Angeles and added new Chevalier fans with his performance in the movie "Gigi."

$50,000 Set As Reward In Postal Heist

WASHINGTON (AP) — Postmaster Gen. J. Edward Day raised to $50,000 today the reward offered for the solution of the 1.5-million-dollar Cape Cod mail robbery.

Day told a House Government Activities subcommittee investigating the case that he is ordering the entire amount appropriated by Congress to his department for reward offers to be posted on this one case.

A reward of $2,000 previously had been offered.

As for how the bold, record-breaking robbery was possible, Day said there was a combination of unfortunate circumstances, including what he called a misinterpreted relationship with the Massachusetss State Police. Day said the postal employees had conducted four previous successful runs carrying currencies from banks over the same route.

He said they were under the impression from instructions given to them that state police cruisers would be observing their progress.

But he said that checks made after the robbery showed that none of the employees had at any time observed a cruiser anywhere along their route.

The robbery was pulled off Aug. 14. A post office truck carrying pouches of money picked up at Hyannis and Buzzard's Bay, Mass., was stopped on a highway by cars blocking the road.

Bandits then disarmed the two post office guards and forced them into the back of the truck, drove it off and later looted it. The guards were not harmed.

Hospital Board Meeting Tomorrow

A three man board will hold a meeting of the Marin County Hospital District trustees at 8 p.m. tomorrow at Marin General Hospital, Administrator William W. Turner announced today.

Trustees Marion C. Ibach and Charles A. Rowe will be absent.

Senate Takes Up Tax Revision Measure

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate took up the administration's tax revision bill today amid demands from critics that they be allowed ample time to debate proposed changes.

Sen. William Proxmire (D-Wis.) protested that he had been advised that leaders had agreed to use tabling motions to chop off debate on dozens of pending amendments. A motion to table is not debatable.

Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana replied that no agreement had been reached with anyone. But said that he was reserving the right to make tabling motions because Proxmire himself had notified the leaders he would block any proposal for unanimous agreement to limit debate.

The bill is on President John F. Kennedy's list of must items for the closing weeks of Congress and Mansfield is aiming for Senate action by the weekend. However, Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois told newsmen he doubted the Senate would act that soon.

Proxmire insisted that he was not trying to prevent any final vote on the bill, but he said it was so important that he hoped the leaders would allow ample time on each amendment.

Sen. Albert Gose (D-Tenn.) who also opposes several sections of the bill, urged the Democratic leader to permit votes to come on the merits of amendments, and not through tabling motions.

The Democratic leader often used the motion to table in the recent bitter debate on the communications satellite bill, and was charged by foes of the bill with using a "guillotine."

Dozens of amendments were pending, some seeking to toughen the bill and others designed to strip additional sections from the already watered-down legislation.

Many of Kennedy's original proposals were taken out of the bill by the House Ways and Means Committee. After the House passed the measure in March, the Senate Finance Committee went back to work on it, rejecting or revising other parts.

The president has advised his Senate leaders he wants the bill because its major provision is largely retained—the investment credit designed as an incentive to business to modernize its plan and equipment.

Another section, a withholding system for taxes on dividend and interest income, was passed by the House but knocked out by the Senate Finance Committee.

Police Says Missing Mrs. Kroeger May Be Playing 'Cat, Mouse' Game

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Police and FBI agents, after a week's search still have found no tangible trace of Iva Kroeger, 44, in whose basement police found two partially decomposed bodies.

Mrs. Kroeger, the object of an area-wide search, disappeared shortly before police found the bodies of Jay Arneson, 70, and his wife, Mildred, 56, in homemade, cement-covered graves in the Kroeger basement.

Mrs. Kroeger has been seen in and around the Bay Area since that time, and police now believe she was doing her washing in a laundromat seven blocks frfom her home while police were unearthing the graves.

Police inspector Kenneth Manley, who has expressed his belief that Mrs. Kroeger is still in the area and is playing a "cat and mouse" game with police and FBI agents, said yesterday Mrs. Kroeger may be working as a baby-sitter.

Manley said that she is such a good actor "that she could change her name and be baby-sitting right now for some unsuspecting family." Mrs. Kroeger has operated under assumed names in the past with considerable success, police indicated.

Ralph Kroeger, Iva Kroeger's 61-year-old husband, is being held by San Francisco police in connection with the slayings. But he has claimed ignorance of the basement graves and has issued a plea to his wife to give herself up "and get this straightened out."

Negroes Enter White Schools In Pensacola

PENSACOLA, Fla. (UPI) — Twenty-one Negro pupils entered nine previously all-white Pensacola schools for the first time today, peacefully ending three years of court battle.

There were no incidents as integration came for the first time to the northwest Florida Panhandle. School and law enforcement officials said the school opening exceeded all expectations.

Twenty-two Negroes, ranging in age from 6 to 16, had been expected to enter 10 schools, but one scheduled to enter the N. B. Cook Elementary School did not show up. The boy was the only Negro scheduled to attend the Cook School.

"Everything went normal at the schools," said Escambia County School Superintendent W. J. Woodham Jr. "The reaction of the faculty and student body was just as normal as with any previous school opening.

Both plainclothes and uniformed officers patrolled the six city and four county schools which were ordered integrated. The Pensacola police department called in 12 extra officers and the sheriff called in a 30-man auxiliary force to handle the situation.

Woodham said yesterday that the Negro students "will get the same consideration as the others."

Fire Sweeps 6,000 Acres Near Redding

REDDING (AP) — A fast moving forest and brush fire swept over 6,000 acres of rugged terrain 10 miles northwest of Redding today.

Forestry spokesmen estimated it would be Wednesday or Thursday before it is under control. They guessed 15,000 acres would be blackened by then.

A thousand men and seven borate dropping planes fought the blaze. The area was so rough they could do nothing but fight a long range battle for control.

The fire broke out yesterday. A passing plane spotted the smoke, and six fire fighting planes promptly doused it with borate. They thought they had halted the flames. But winds blew up and in less than an hour the fire flared over 2,000 acres.

Most of the burned area was brush-covered. But some small, isolated stands of timber were destroyed.

The fire burned to within three miles of Shasta Lake by 9 a.m. Winds carried smoke 100 miles to the east to Fall River Mills.

The fire started in a desolate area on the northeast fork of French Gulch. Fire fighters said the town of 300 people appeared to be in no danger.

One of the 300 honor camp prisoners helping fight the fire was injured slightly.

Oral Exams Start For Selection Of Aide For Bruce

Oral examinations of 10 top candidates for the new post of assistant county administrator started at 9:30 a.m. today and were to continue at half-hour intervals through 4 p.m. This group had already been selected by written examination out of an initial field of 100.

Administrator Alan Bruce said he would not decide before tonight as to whether the successful top five would be introduced before the Marin County Board of Supervisors tomorrow or a week from tomorrow, partly dependent on whether the candidates are all able to stop over in Marin County another day. One will later be chosen for the job.

The examinations were being conducted at the offices of Marin Savings and Loan Assn. as a matter of convenience as Fred F. Enemark of this firm was one of the examiners, accompanied by San Rafael City Manager Dan E. Anderson and Charles A. Hammond, Contra Costa County administrative analyst.

Wife Reported 'Good' After Pills Overdose

Mrs. Warren J. Aldridge, 26, mother of five children, was reported in good condition today at Ross General Hospital after reportedly taking an overdose of sedatives at her home, 11 Redwood Drive, in San Rafael yesterday.

Police reported Mrs. Aldridge was found unconscious by her husband about 3:45 p.m. She was taken to Marin General Hospital by United Ambulance and later transferred to Ross General Hospital.

Scott Whittman, 5, of Apt. D, 142 Park Street, San Rafael, was reported in good condition today at San Rafael General Hospital. The boy, who fell 15 feet from a second story window last Monday and suffered a fractured skull, will go home soon, said attendants.

Candidate Richardson Talks Here Tomorrow

Dr. Ralph Richardson, candidate for State Superintendent of Public Instruction, will make three public appearances in Marin County tomorrow.

Here's What Happens When You Start Counting Your Points

"How many points do you need for an overcall at the level of two?" asks a reader. The answer: About 800 points.

Here's what tends to happen when you count points.

Opening lead — ♡ K

This hand was dealt in the recent Intercity Championship between Minneapolis and Houston. At one table a Minneapolis expert thought the South hand was worth an overcall of two diamonds.

NOT TRICKS

He had a reasonable number of points for this bid, but he didn't have the tricks.

West doubled and led the king of hearts after nobody could think of a further bid.

He switched to spades and East shifted to clubs, giving West a club ruff. West then took two more hearts and waited for his trump trick. This all came to 800 points.

FURTHER LOSS

The Minneapolis team had a further loss on this hand at the other table of the match. Here the Twin Cities had the East-West cards, and Houston experts sat North-South.

The bidding began with two passes and a bid of one spade by East, as before. But Bobby Nail passed the South hand. He has had too much experience on such a doubtful hand.

This left it up to West. He wanted to bid 2½ spades, but the rules don't permit fractional bids. West tried to mark time with a response of two diamonds, hoping to show the spade support later.

NO LATER

Unfortunately for West, there was no later. East dropped him at two diamonds. Maybe West should have made this lamentable contract, but he actually went down one for a loss of 50 points.

Even if West had made a part score, the result at the second table would have been unimportant. The damage was done at the first table, where South bid two diamonds.

A vulnerable overcall at the level of two should show a hand that will produce about six sure tricks. Never mind points.

If you have your six tricks you'll have the points, too.

If you have the points without the tricks, get ready to pay out 800 points to the opponents.

Dan London Finally Wins Bridge Traffic Divider Fight

It is gratifying that the Golden Gate Bridge directors have finally come around to agreeing to try something which San Francisco Dan London has tried to get them to try for several years —putting rubber traffic lane dividers all the way across the bridge.

For months and years the directors have talked about grandios schemes for reversing lanes so that four lanes can flow in the direction of heaviest traffic during peak hours. Thousands of dollars were spent on preparing plans for such schemes, biggest one being the construction of traffic control arches across the span. Meanwhile, Director London, with tears in his eyes, pleaded for a trial of the rubber dividers.

At last he has won. Forced by the widening of the Marin end of the bridge approach to use the rubber bumpers to divert the traffic there, the bridge management found to its surprise that it worked.

Now the bridge board has voted $3,500 to buy the dividers and necessary advance warning signs. By the middle of next month they should be in operation on a trial basis, allowing four lanes of commuter traffic to go toward San Francisco in the morning and four lanes toward Marin in the evening.

It always seems so peculiar to us the amount of talk, pressure and eventually, necessity that it takes to force action on a simple thing concerning the bridge. London, even as bridge board president, couldn't marshall enough votes for the $3,500 to even try the rubber dividers. Yet the bridge board actually authorized preparation of plans and specifications, at a cost of thousands of dollars, for construction of the traffic control arches—which themselves would have cost about $800,000.

We congratulate Director London on having finally won the day and brought about a test of an inexpensive way to do what could be a very expensive job.

Avocados, Artichokes, Abalone

A friend of ours told us the other day that when he moved from New Mexico to Marin more than thirty years ago there were three things which he had never tasted—avocados, artichokes and abalone.

Today most people are well acquainted with the first two items, but abalones are often still a mystery for the "immigrants."

Such things are part of a California education. Strangely, we don't know anyone who liked his first taste of avocado. Yet, these same people become quickly afflicted with avocado madness and drool at the mention of the word.

INTREPID WOMAN WASTES NO TIME

Struck by a hit-and-run driver, a motorist was saved by a "hit-and-run" angel of mercy in Redondo Beach, Calif., recently.

Police were pursuing a speeding car when it collided with another vehicle. An artery in the second driver's arm was severed.

The culprit escaped on foot but an unidentified woman rushed up to the victim, tore off a section of her dress and made a tourniquet to stop the flow of blood. This quick-thinking action was credited with saving the man's life.

Before anyone could even thank her, the self-effacing woman melted into the crowd.

There is something reassuring in the fact that, no sooner had the damage been done than someone stepped forward to repair the harm.

Rather than waste valuable time deploring evil, take some steps, however small, to correct it. The Lord will supply you with more strength than you ever thought possible.

Piece Of Space Junk Could Bean You—But It's Very Unlikely

By JOSEPH L. MYLER

WASHINGTON (UPI)—There is a chance, though not much of one, that a piece of space junk some day will land in your back yard.

There is even a chance that a hunk of metal lately in orbit will come blazing down from space and bash your head in.

But the odds against this happening are so great that it would be a pity, space experts feel, for anybody to spend more than a second or so worrying about it.

These experts recently tried to calculate the chances that rocket scraps, such as those released in space from a Mercury astronaut's flight, might plummet out of orbit at just the right spot on earth at just the right moment to hit a human being.

They concluded that $750,000 to one million dollars would be a fair bet against any such occurrence.

Space officials once assumed that nothing could survive the high speed re-entry into the atmosphere from orbit unless it was specially designed, like the Mercury space cabins with their heat shields, to withstand the fantastic temperatures generated by air friction.

From time to time bits and pieces of equipment used to launch sub-orbital rocket flights have survived the descent to earth.

Around 1 a.m. on Feb. 21, 1962, something happened which proved that orbital debris also might become meteorites. At that hour several pieces of metal fell on South Africa.

They were identified as leftovers from the Atlas rocket which boosted John H. Glenn Jr. into orbit and then went into orbit itself. It was the first authenticated instance of metal scrap arriving on earth from orbit.

Last April four pieces of stainless steel were found in the Brazilian state of Minas Gerais. They appeared to be part of the skin of another Atlas.

ALL FELL IN open country. The most widely separated of the pieces were 525 miles apart. Experts do not know exactly why these particular pieces survived reentry.

A SPACE OFFICIAL has said it is 10 times more likely that a natural meteorite will hit a human being than that a man-made space object will.

But scientists say no case of a meteorite scoring a direct hit on an inhabitant of the earth has ever been established.

State Studying Highway Numbers

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

Your editorial of Aug. 14, admonished the State Highway Commission or the Department of Public Works to order the State Division of Highways to make their sign route numbers conform to the legislative route numbers—or vice versa. You have noted a situation which is indeed confusing to the public and a uniform system would certainly be desirable.

Over the past 50 years, the legislative routes have been designated as they were added to the state highway system. Many of these legislative routes have spurs or stubs and do not follow major traffic movements, making it impractical to redesignate the sign route system to conform with the legislative numbers.

Also, the selection of United States sign routes, such as U.S. 101, is done by the federal government through its Bureau of Public Roads.

Only the state legislature is authorized to change official legislative route numbers — not the State Highway Commission or the Department of Public Works, as suggested in your editorial.

Your readers will be interested in knowing that the legislature in Senate Concurrent Resolution 8, 1962, Regular Session, has already requested the Department of Public Works to undertake a study of the feasibility of renumbering the state highway system. The sign study is to include the elimination or reduction of the use of multiple numbers.

The Division of Highways is currently making this study and a progress report will be made to the legislature in the near future.

Fine Profile Of Harry Johnston

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

Recently returning from vacation, I read the Marin Magazine article about Harry N. Johnston in one of my back copies of the I-J. Please accept my congratulations on this fine article.

Not only is Harry a neighbor of mine but I have worked with him on a number of projects and have had many opportunities to observe his willingness to help on worthwhile causes. Most recently, he executed the art work for the insignia for San Rafael General Hospital for a new brochure published by the hospital. This service was greatly appreciated by the Board of Trustees, of which I am a member.

I always find the Marin Magazine of interest and particularly enjoy the profiles such as that on Harry Johnston.

Test Ban Only Food Protection

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

Reports from both the Public Health Service and Consumers Union reveal that fallout caused by nuclear testing is approaching the danger level, and that appropriate positive control measures should be instituted.

Precautions taken now to protect food supplies, such as decontaminating milk, would at best be temporary and partial, as fallout levels rise with each new test.

For this reason, the new U. S. proposal for an atmospheric test-ban treaty is, in the words of Senator Hubert Humphrey, "the only guarantee that radioactive substances in food supplies could be kept within safe limits."

Other times had other ways, as this striking excerpt from the Diary of Samuel Pepys (date: October 13, 1659) would indicate: "I went out to Charing Cross to see General Harrison hanged, which was done there, he looking as cheerful as any man could in that condition. He was presently cut down, and his head and heart shown to the people, at which there were great shouts of joy."

A new student at Cambridge University in England was showing his father about the ivy-covered campus. In the course of their stroll, they passed a formidable female. "That," whispered the student, "is the legendary Miss Ekhart. She's the mistress of Ridsley Hall."

"Ah," nodded the father, "and precisely who is Ridsley Hall?"

In the swing on the back porch, a dapper young man mused aloud, "if I had a million dollars in the bank, I wonder where I'd be tonight." A female voice replied decisively, "I'll tell you where you'd be. You'd be on our honeymoon."

Castroism Not Going To Be Spark Which Sets South America Afire

It is pleasant to be able to report that Fidelismo is visibly losing its appeal nearly everywhere. His name is no longer the once inspiring rallying cry to stir revolution in the hemisphere.

Except for the Communists, who are a vocal, well-financed, powerful minority, few people in the other Latin American countries want for themselves what Castro is imposing on Cuba.

Not that Castro isn't still trying to export his "Fidelista" revolution. He is. Under the compulsion of the expansionist Marxian ideology, he is still seeking to infiltrate neighboring nations and to spread subversion not only against the traditional oligarchic governments but against the progressive governments of the moderate left. He still has some following in nearly every country.

BUT FIDELISMO finds its lustre waning. Its appeal is being steadily sapped as the true picture of what is happening to the Cuban people is becoming better known.

The rest of the hemisphere is now seeing more clearly that Castro promised a miracle and created a mess, promised freedom and brought tyranny, proclaimed Cuban independence and turned his country over to the Soviets.

If Castro were succeeding, if he were really improving the lot of all Cuban people even with great regimentation, he would be a galvanic force for revolution in many parts of this continent because the stuff of which revolution is made—massive inflation, terrible poverty, and social injustice — is widely at hand.

BUT CASTROISM is not going to be the spark which sets it off. The spark of Castroism has nearly gone out as far as the rest of Latin America is concerned.

It is increasingly clear that if there are to be serious uprisings because of mass discontent and frustration—and this can't be ruled out—they will come not from the success of Castro but from the failure of the Alliance for Progress. The Alliance, though yet untested by performance, is a positive factor helping to erode the Castro myth.

But the Alliance cannot survive on promises of things to come. It must begin to deliver on its promises soon if it is going to enlist the faith of the great majority of Latin American people. It must begin soon to generate social reforms and show rays of economic hope if it is going to avert political explosion, which can go in any direction or in all directions — none of them good.

THE DECLINE of Castro as an appealing figure and symbolic rallying point doesn't mean Communists are giving up in Latin America. Not at all. It simply means that Communist leaders are having to work harder than ever and to lay hold of other slogans. Castro is no longer much use to them.

The principal target of Communists in Latin America today is the Alliance for Progress. In Chile they are beginning to call it Alliance against, and this is apparently going to be one of the Communists' main slogans.

The fact that the Communists are focusing their major attack on the Alliance shows how important they consider its destruction. This is why there is no acceptable alternative to making the Alliance for Progress a vital and going concern.

It's Confusing, Whether A Streets Or B Streets, But Bala Is Studying

Much of Mill Valley's charm is in its narrow, crookedy streets.

Until recently few people realized these streets were segregated alphabetically. The A's are the flossy ones with improvements such as pavement, drains, curbs and gutters. The B's—as in bourgeois or middle class — are those without improvements.

The C's are the forgotten ones, receive no maintenance and may be of dirt and potted, and the D's, which get no city repairs either, are often private.

Of the four types, perhaps no one knows the B's so well as City Engineer Stanley M. Bala, who nowadays pushes his "daisy circle" up and back, measuring the distances and taking notes.

The affable expatriate of Poland was assigned to survey the B streets by the city council and report back Sept. 19.

THIS CAME ABOUT when at a budget session it was mentioned that Ross Benson, superintendent of public works, could use an extra man to patch the 38 B streets. It was found that the city has been patching them with "plant mix" for many years although this is not required.

One city father said, alas, why pay out about $10,000 a year in hot asphalt? Why not let the streets go unpatched. Perhaps the B-Streeters will form an assessment district, bring their streets up to a level so the city may maintain them.

Word spread through the valley like grass fire and the usually empty council chambers were filled. "Don't forsake our B's," the people cried. And so, Bala was asked for a survey and his days have not been ordinary since.

CHILDREN TAG along after him asking if the daisy circle is a toy, since the stick, with a spiked wheel resembling a daisy, makes a "clickety" sound as it goes.

"I tell them I am measuring the streets," says Bala. "This is a machine, similar to a tachometer, not a toy."

"They ask me if they can try it," he added, "and sometimes I let them.

"People stop their cars and talk to me," he continued. "They ask, 'is the city going to do something?'

"One lady delivered a speech about the council—not very friendly — about B streets. People just don't understand the problem. 'We pay taxes,' they say. 'Why doesn't the city maintain it'?"

"Most people ask if I am surveying to fix the street. I say, 'No, maybe the survey is not to fix it.'"

Bala explains that actually the measuring is only a minor part of his work. As he walks the street, once up and once back, he takes notes on drainage, passing zones, width, structures such as culverts and retaining walls. He must determine what has to be repaired, whether the street might come up to standards to become an A street.

HE HAS 12.1 MILES of B streets to check and estimates he has pushed the daisy circle three miles.

Bala says "many of the streets are the oldest in Mill Valley. A typical example is Ethel, laid out in 1880 by engineer Michael O'Shaughnessy. Ethel is A in part, but the rest is something like an old Indian trail. It has two bridges, one has holes you can see through with garbage underneath. The other one is about to collapse."

Sometimes Bala cannot find where the street right-of-way ends. "It may be marked," he said, "where I can't walk — where there are just trees, bushes and blackberries."

CORNWALL, HE SAID, is wide in one place and then narrows into a trail of redwoods.

One woman, an old timer, the engineer said, told him "I remember when there was a time when there was just a mayor and no city council. And, now, there is even a city engineer."

Bala replied, "Yes, I know, I am the city engineer."

"She proceeded to give me a toffee candy from her pocket," said Bala, a twinkle in his eye.

Next 10 Days 'Do-Or-Die' For Giants In N.L. Race

The San Francisco Giants got a brief rest today for what will likely be the most crucial 10 days of the 1962 National League pennant race.

The Giants, the Los Angeles Dodgers and the Cincinnati Reds are battling down the homestretch—and they'll see plenty of each other during that 10-day period.

San Francisco, which has been tough at home, hopes to gain valuable ground on both Los Angeles and Cincinnati during the Giants' series with Milwaukee which begins at Candlestick Park tomorrow.

The Dodgers, holding a 2½-game edge on San Francisco, tangle with the Reds at Chavez Ravine. The Reds are 4½ games behind the Dodgers and just two behind the Giants.

Cincinnati then moves into Candlestick Park — and that series will set the stage for a four-game encounter between the Giants and Dodgers at Chavez Ravine next Monday.

San Francisco and Los Angeles will begin their home stands on a happy note, but the Reds ended a long period of prosperity on a sour note yesterday.

The Giants wound up their road trip by downing Philadelphia, 7-4, the Dodgers took New York, 16-5, but the Reds dropped a twin-bill to Houston, 2-1 and 6-4.

Manager Alvin Dark's reputation as a practical psychologist held good yesterday as Orlando Cepeda — benched and fined in Milwaukee eight days ago — kept up his hot batting streak.

The Baby Bull has gone 11-for-22 since Milwaukee, and had six home runs last week, including No. 30 yesterday. Felipe Alou chipped in with his 21st four-bagger and played center field for seven innings as Dark benched Willie Mays. But when things got a bit tight, Alvin summoned Mays for the final two frames.

Jack Sanford was credited with his 12th straight win, although he needed the usual help and got it from Mike McCormick and Bobby Bolin. Sanford stands 18-6 on the season and appears headed for his best major league season since his 19-8 campaign with Philadelphia in 1957.

Philly Manager Gene Mauch had some interesting things to say about Dark before the game — in fact, he sounded like Dark's press agent.

Mauch called Alvin the best manager in the league. "Dark has done a tremendous job with the Giants. He knows so much about this game and he directs it so well it's almost fantastic.

"With us out of the pennant race, there's nobody I'd rather see with the pennant than the Giants," Mauch said.

49ers Can Learn From Loss To Cleveland; Depth Is Question

RANDOL

The exhibition bubble burst in Portland Saturday night when the San Francisco 49ers went down to the Cleveland Browns, 34 to 27. But the first loss of the season could easily become a mark on the credit side if the lessons taught were assimilated.

The loss of Captain Matt Hazeltine at the start of the first quarter dramatically pointed out the lack of defensive depth on what Coach Red Hickey has called "the best team I have ever coached." Any team in the National Football League could field a potential winner if the first 11 men on offense and defense could go all the way. It's the bench that counts in the long haul.

With John Thomas virtually a rookie as middle linebacker, and with Dave Baker in the service for a year, inability to use Hazeltine and Jim Ridlon left the 49er defense at its weakest. It is remarkable that they did as well as they did against the powerful Brownies.

Back in 1959 and 1960, the 49ers seemed to have built what would rate as an all-time great defensive backfield. Last year, it was this same group that fell on its face and may have cost the 49ers a real shot at the title.

In 1961 the local defense intercepted only 19 passes to rank third from last in this department in the whole league. And Baker was responsible for six of the thefts. It would seem that the deep men have sacrificed daring for conservatism, confidence for the moment of doubt.

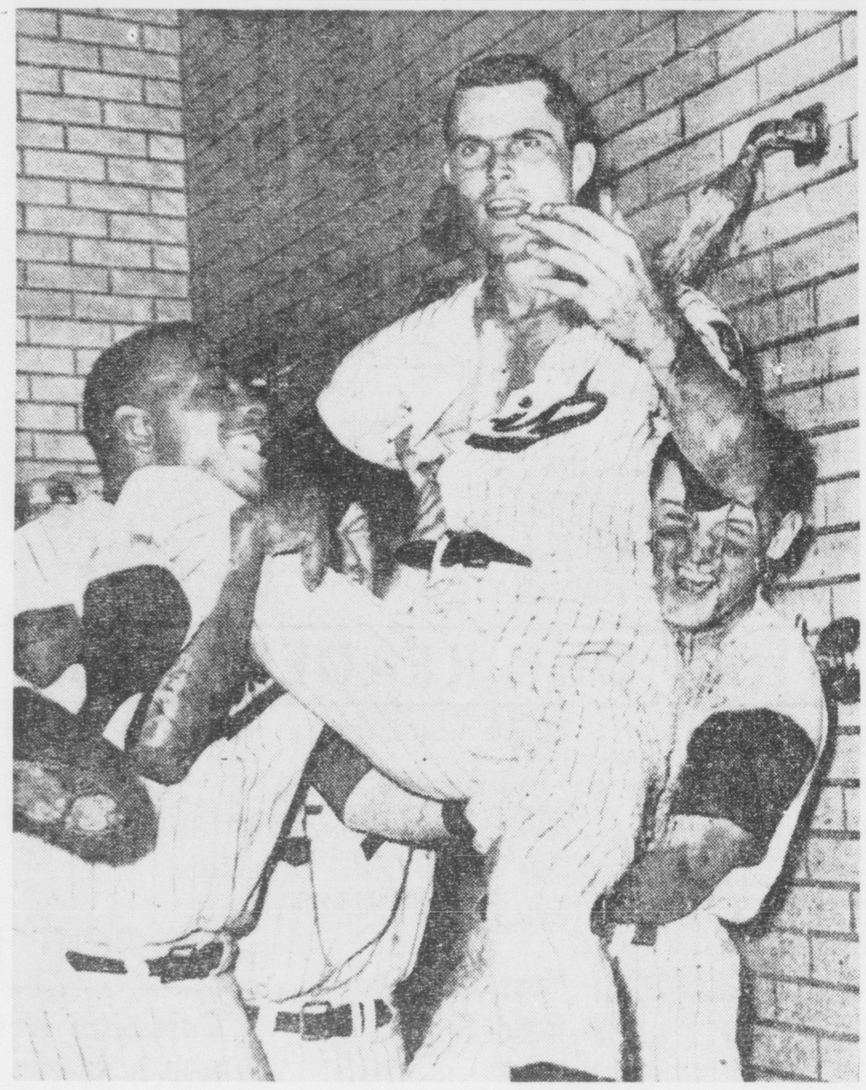
Make no mistake about it, this team can score against any opponent, and will. The question will be, week after week, can they OUTscore 'em.

With John Brodie heading for what may be his greatest year, the "home run ball" may be the most formidable weapon of all. Brodie has had great protection, and has been able to pick out his receivers and hit them with accuracy. And he has shown no favoritism that marks a man for the defenders.

It remains to be seen whether or not this striking power will so loosen the defense that 49er fullbacks and tight backs will be able to move on the ground. Cannonball Cooper did his best job against Cleveland, and we have yet to see the much touted Keith Luhnow in action. No pro team can live on passing alone. The power threat must be present.

Wild Bill Kilmer was wisely held out of the Cleveland contest, but should be ready to go against the Dallas Cowboys in Sacramento next Saturday night. So far, we have seen many backfield combinations, and all have made yardage.

Coach Hickey may have a few problems when it comes to final cut-down time. This crop of rookies didn't rate the press notices of past seasons, but there are a couple of sleepers that could make "the long bench" and make this team a contender.



COOLS OFF AFTER NO-HITTER

Minnesota Twins pitcher Jack Kralick is lifted under shower by teammates after he pitched a no-hit, no-run game against Kansas City Athletics yesterday. Kralick gave up only one walk to second batter in ninth inning as he barely missed a perfect game in 1-0 victory. Catcher Earl Battey (left), Rich Rollins (partially hidden) and Bernie Allen hoisted Kralick under the water in wet celebration. (AP Wirephoto)

Bad News For Colts' Rivals: Unitas Regains Magic Touch

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Johnny Unitas has found that old second-half magic that he used a few seasons back to spark Baltimore to a pair of National Football League titles, and the thought is enough to give the six other Western Conference coaches a good case of pre-season heebie-jeebies.

The Colts' quarterback, injury free this year, has led the Colts to three straight exhibition victories. Last Saturday night, he put on one of his patented second-half clutch performances as the Colts pulled away to a 24-10 victory over the Dallas Cowboys (0-3) at Norfolk, Va. He passed for one TD and set up a second after the Colts had been held to a 3-3 half-time tie.

The Cleveland Browns and defending champion Green Bay Packers are the only other teams with perfect records. The Browns, with newcomer Tom Wilson leading the way, upended San Francisco (2-1) 34-27 at Portland, Ore., for their third straight win. At Milwaukee the Packers won their fourth exhibition game, and third against NFL foes, 35-21 over the Chicago Bears (0-3).

The New York Giants won their first in three starts, 31-24 over the Rams (2-1) at Los Angeles. Philadelphia (2-1) beat Washington (0-3) 24-7 at Charlotte, N. C., and the St. Louis Cards (1-1-1) edged the Minnesota Vikings (0-3) at Minneapolis, 24-21.

Tonight, in Detroit, the Lions play host to the Pittsburgh Steelers.

Unitas passed 11 yards to rookie fullback Bob Clemens for one second-half score and sneaked a yard for the second, setting it up with a 45-yard pass to Jimmy Orr. Lenny Lyles' 45-yard urn with an interception of Eddie LeBaron's pass broke the tie in the third period before Unitas clinched it. Quarterback Don Meredith ran five yards for Dallas' only touchdown.

Green Bay's 1-2 punch of quarterback Bart Starr, who passed 43 yards to Max McGee and 18 to Lew Carpenter for scores, and fullback Jim Taylor, who scored two and rolled up 103 yards rushing in a second-half drive, are still the Packers' forte. The Bears, still unable to mount a consistent attack but strong on defense, held Taylor to only eight yards in the first half.

The Giants, injury-riddled in the defensive secondary, nevertheless won on a 45-yard run with an interception by defensive back Alan Webb. The defending Eastern Conference champs also got two good performances from quarterbacks Ralph Guglielmi and Y. A. Tittle. Goog passed 18 yards to Alex Webster and 13 to Del Shofner for a quick 14-0 lead, which Zeke Bratowski leveled with a pair of TD passes of his own. Tittle's passing in the second half sparked New York to a come-from-behind performance.

Durocher Will Be Back Tomorrow

NEW YORK (UPI) — Leo Durocher, as full of life and lip as ever, will be back on the coaching lines tomorrow night when the Los Angeles Dodgers open a three-game series with the pennant-contending Cincinnati Reds.

It will mark the 57-year-old Durocher's first appearance in uniform since Friday night when he suffered a near-fatal reaction to a penicillin shot. Durocher collapsed in the Dodger clubhouse shortly before the start of a game with the New York Mets and was administered two shots of adrenalin to counteract the effect of the penicillin.

S.F. WARRIORS SWITCH HOME GAME SITES

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The San Francisco Warriors have switched the proposed site of some of their National Basketball Association games at home.

The Warriors announced yesterday that 25 games will be played at the Cow Palace, eight at the University of San Francisco's modern arena and four at places to be announced later.

When the team first moved here from Philadelphia it planned to play 10 games at the Cow Palace and 27 at Winterland Auditorium. No reason was given for the change.

THE PENNANT RACE

Wills Zips, L.A. Wins; Reds Lose 2

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

First inning: Maury Wills walked, stole second and scored on a single by Tommy Davis, an infield hit, stole second, reached third on Willie Davis' safe bunt and scored when Tommy Davis hit into a double play.

Sixth inning: Wills doubled home a run, stole third and scored on a single by Jim Gilliam.

Thus did Maury Wills, perhaps the greatest base stealer in modern baseball history, demonstrate once more his tremendous value to the Los Angeles Dodgers.

With the fleet-footed shortstop reaching base three times, stealing three bases and scoring three times, the Dodgers trounced the hapless New York Mets 16-5 yesterday to retain their National League lead of 2½ games over the San Francisco Giants.

Houston's Colts cooled off the red hot Cincinnati Reds 2-1 and 6-4. The twin loss dropped the third-place Reds 4½ games behind the Dodgers and two behind the Giants, who defeated Philadelphia 7-4.

The Chicago Cubs beat Milwaukee 4-1 and Pittsburgh split a doubleheader with St. Louis, winning the second game 7-6, after the Cards had taken the opener 6-5.

The New York Yankees' American League lead was reduced to three games over Los Angeles and Minnesota. Baltimore defeated the Yankees 2-1 to sweep the five-game series; the Angels shut out the Chicago White Sox 4-0, and the Twins blanked Kansas City 1-0 as southpaw Jack Kralick hurled a no-hitter, the fifth in the majors this season.

CLEVELAND SWEEP

Cleveland swept a doubleheader from Boston 10-5 and 4-0 and Detroit split with Washington, the Tigers won the opener 5-3 and the Senators took the second game 5-2.

The Dodgers scored 12 unearned runs against the Mets, who committed five errors. Rookie southpaw Pete Richert pitched eight innings, fanning eight and registered his third triumph while Craig Anderson lost his 13th straight.

Wills' three stolen bases increased his season total to 72, the most by a National Leaguer since Bob Bescher's record 80 in 1911 for the Cincinnati Reds.

Wills has 31 games left to play. He needs eight to tie Bescher and 24 to equal Ty Cobb's major league mark of 96 set in 1916.

Southpaw George Brunet pitched a five-hitter in the first game and veteran second baseman Johnny Temple drove in two runs that snapped a 4-4 tie in the second game to highlight Houston's double victory over the Reds.

Bill White hit a two-run homer off relief ace Elroy Face in the eighth inning to give the Cards a come-from-behind 6-5 victory over the Pirates in the opener. White singled the Cards' potential tying run into scoring position with two out in the ninth of the nightcap but right-hander Jack Lamabe retired Ken Boyer to preserve the Pirates' 7-6 margin in the nightcap. Bob Skinner made that possible by hitting his 20th homer.

Ongaro Plumbers Whip Tiburon 8-4

The Ongaro Plumbers scored four runs in the top of the ninth inning to break a 4-4 tie and whip the Tiburon Pelicans 8-4 yesterday in a challenge semi-pro baseball contest.

The victory was the 12th for the Plumbers against no defeats in county play.

Ongaro carried a 4-0 lead into the eighth inning when hurler Bob DeRosa weakened and allowed two hits and two walks, coupled with two errors by his teammates, which gave Tiburon four runs.

The plumbers came back in the ninth to score their four winning tallies on two walks, a single, a bases-loaded double by Ron Cole and a sacrifice fly by Don Lauters.

The Plumbers outhit the Pelicans 9-8. Big swatter for Tiburon was Ken Anderson who collected four hits in five trips to the dish.

Ron Blum collected a pair of hits for the Pelicans and DeRosa and Bill Buffalow each hit twice for Ongaro. DeRosa, a lefthander, earned the win and Buzz Wensloff suffered the defeat.

Lauters was the defensive standout as he handled 11 chances at shortstop without an error. He was credited with three put outs and 11 assists.

It was the last contest for the Pelicans. The Ongaro nine will play an Old Timers game in San Anselmo on Sept. 9. Old timers interested in playing should get in touch with either Don Ongaro or Pete Maggi Jr.

Back To Fundamentals For 49ers; Defense Needs Work

The San Francisco 49ers went back to fundamentals today—to find out what makes the defense leak.

Coach Red Hickey, not particularly unhappy but at the same time not pleased, took a look at the films of the 49ers' 27-34 loss to the Cleveland Browns Saturday night. He didn't like what he saw on defense.

"We just didn't play well on defense," said Hickey. "We did move the ball well enough to win most games. I just hope we can move it that well all year."

Quarterback John Brodie had a fine night in the passing department with 366 yards on 23 completions out of 33 tosses. It gave the record Portland crowd of 27,161 a lot of thrills, but didn't bring the 49ers victory.

SAME OLD STORY

It was the same old story for San Francisco when it runs up against Coach Paul Brown and fullback Jim Brown of the Browns.

The Browns, spear-headed by Jim, gained 206 yards on the ground against 106 for San Francisco.

Cleveland took a 7-0 lead in the first quarter on Tom Wilson's seven-yard romp. J. D. Smith squared it with a plunge from the two in the second, but the Browns went ahead again when Brown pounded over from the one.

San Francisco came back to knot it with Cannonball Cooper barrelling over from the one, but the Browns took a 17-14 lead at the half-time when Lou Groza booted a 46-yard field goal only a second remaining.

Wilson, obtained from the Los Angeles Rams during the winter, romped 32 yards to score in the third quarter and Groza booted another field goal, this one from the 22, to put some frosting on the cake.

The 49ers roared down the field after this on Brodie's passing and scored when Smith again rolled over from the four. But Cleveland came right back for the clincher on a 23-yard pass from Jim Ninowski to end Leon Clark and the game was in the bag.

San Francisco scored again with four minutes to play when Brodie hit end Clyde Conner with a six-yard pass. And the Prospectors were hammering at the door again, going for a tie, when the clock ran out.

The Dallas Cowboys — at Sacramento — are next on the 49er schedule in a Saturday night tilt.

Three World Records Fall At Swim Meet

LOS ALTOS (UPI) — Three world records were broken in the Far Western Swimming and Diving Championships which ended at Foothill College yesterday.

The standards for both men and women in the 800-meter free-style were cracked in yesterday's final day of the two-day meet.

Australian Murray Rose, competing for the Los Angeles Athletic Club, turned in a time of 8:51.5, bettering the world mark of 8:59.6 set by another Australian, Jon Konrads, in 1959. Rose had tied the world mark in the 200-meter free-style Saturday with a time of 2:00.4.

Sixteen-year-old Carolyn House, another member of the Los Angeles team, bettered the women's 800-meter record by covering the distance in 9:51.6. The old mark, set by Jan Cederquist of Sweden in 1960, was 9:55.6.

The third new record was Sharon Finneran's 2:30.9 in the women's 200-meter butterfly Saturday. Miss Finneran is also a member of the Los Angeles A.C.

Raiders Home Debut Called Artistic, Financial Success

OAKLAND (AP) — Oakland's orphan Raiders have finally come home. And from the looks of things, it's precisely where they should have been all along.

The American Football Leaguers after two seasons of hiding across the bay in San Francisco, played their first-ever game here yesterday and promptly came up with a modest financial and artistic success.

The Raiders lost to the San Diego Chargers 33-27. But the game was far closer than expected, and the 17,053 fans who nearly filled Frank Youell Field formed the largest Bay Area crowd to ever watch the team.

The contest was full of the looseness that characterizes pre-season play, but it had plenty of breaks, long gainers, shifting leads and Oakland aggressiveness that should draw repeat customers to the financially-plagued Raiders.

FIELD HELPED

"I think the new field helped," said Raiders' head coach Marty Feldman. "And we've been hitting hard — something we didn't do the last two years."

Opposing coach Sid Gilman, who sounded more like the loser, agreed that the Raiders "are much more aggressive than they have been." He found his own club — the defending Western Division champion — "anything but sharp in any phase of our game."

The Raiders led three different times and weren't out of contention until rookie quarterback John Hadl rolled 11 yards around end for San Diego's final touchdown with only 1:13 to play.

Yet even then, the losers drove downfield on the arm of quarterback Don Heinrich and scored with 14 seconds to play on a Heinrich to Clemon Daniels 24-yard pass.

The clubs traded breaks for three periods before Bob Mitinger's interception paved the way for what proved to be the winning touchdown. He picked off a Heinrich aerial at the Raiders' 40 and the Chargers drove quickly to the 23 before Jack Kemp spotted Dave Kocourek on the goal line and threw to him over the reach of Tommy Morrow. That made it 26-20.

Oakland scored first on a 61-yard drive, 29 of which came via penalties. But the Chargers tied it 7-7 soon after just as the Raiders threatened to score again.

Heinrich faded back 10 yards from the San Diego 22, was hit from behind by defensive end Paul Maguire and lost the ball. It bounced back to the 45, where linebacker Emil Karas grabbed it and rumbled untouched to a touchdown.

Long runs by Daniels (42 yards) and Bo Roberson (25 yards) put the Raiders ahead 13-7, but San Diego took a one-point lead on Bob Jackson's 6-yard plunge. Maguire's 40-yard return of an interception set up the score.

With the Charges on top 17-13, Oakland took the lead for the third time when Fred Williamson, a halfback, intercepted a Kemp to Lance Alworth pass and raced 44 yards down the sideline. George Blair's second field goal tied the score again 20-20 moments into the fourth period, and soon after came Mitinger's key interception.

Kemp, with 15 completions for 191 yards, took passing honors while Daniels, with a 7.8 average in 12 carries, topped the ball carriers.

San Diego is now 3-0 in exhibition play, the Raiders 1-3.

Dick LeMay Of Giant Farm Club Tosses No-Hitter

TACOMA, Wash., (UPI) — Southpaw Dick LeMay, who started this season with the San Francisco Giants, tossed a seven-inning no-hitter yesterday in the Pacific Coast League.

He led the Tacoma Giants to a 4-0 victory over the Vancouver Mounties.

The 23-year-old LeMay walked the first man to face him, but the runner promptly was wiped out on a double play. LeMay struck out three batters en route to his eighth win with Tacoma.

Palms Baseballers Win Fourth Straight

Litchfield's Bermuda Palms pulled in its fourth consecutive win without a loss in the San Francisco "C" Baseball League by topping the Mission Boys Club 9-8 yesterday.

The Bermuda Palms baseballers scored six runs in the third to take a lead they never surrendered. Winning pitcher was Leon Center who relieved starter Ken Fowler.

Fireworks In Bay Races

By ALFRED MATSON

The closing event of the week-long Pacific Coast Championship Regatta, the Lipton Race, was fittingly the most hotly contested segment of the program and, for that bizarre touch, included some fire works.

The fire works were all verbal and represented a protest filed by Hal McCormick, skipper of the Gandy of the San Francisco Yacht Club. The protest was against Mistral, St. Francis Yacht Club, sailed by Hank Easom and involved a hurricane class ruling forbidding the practice of hiking out. The violation, at the start, lasted less than 20 seconds.

Fortunately, before reaching a climatic stage, the protest was withdrawn and the race committee wiped its collective brow in gestures of complete relief as it allowed the Mistral win.

The win for Easom was a brilliant one and was accomplished only after a long stern chase. Off to a poor start, Mistral was sixth at Crissy but by the time the leeward mark was reached, had edged into third position.

On the long beat back to Crissy, Easom shook Mistral up a bit, applied the whip and overtook the leaders, Gandy and Figaro, Sausalito Cruising Club, and came down the home stretch to win by a near two-minute margin over second place Figaro with Gandy finishing third in the eight-boat fleet representing as many yacht clubs.

Hank Easom's win, compounded with his come-through performance in the final races of the Mallory Eliminations, certainly reflects his mastery in the art of sailing and it is hoped he continues his winning ways in the semi-finals of the Mallory Race down at Cabrillo Beach Yacht Club a couple of weeks hence.

Hank and Larry Grinnell, Coyote Point Yacht Club, both won the right to represent the Bay Area in the upcoming battle.

Another big win yesterday and completely satisfying to the local sailors, was the victory of Ted Stephens on the Carr Perpetual Trophy. Three teams were entered, San Francisco, Los Angeles and Seattle in boats of the Farallone Clipper class and a three race series.

On conclusion of the races, the point totals showed the local and Seattle teams tied with seven points apiece and that provided another hassel for the race committee who finally gave the gonfalon to Stephens on the total elapsed time basis.

The small boaters had two days of red hot competition and under near perfect conditions in the Richardson Bay and Racoon Strait areas. The Blue Jay championship was won by Stan Cohen, LMSC. Gil Smith came up from Palo Alto to sail his way into the Thistle Crown and the all around small boat championship was won by Ed Melaika, Richmond, with young Jim Davies of the San Francisco Yacht Club coming through with a close second.

To return to the Easom story, it would be a gross oversight to fail to mention his crew as, according to Hank, they were the lads who did the work. For the Mallory Races it was Bill Moore of Belvedere and Len Delmas of Greenbrae. For the Lipton it was owner Dr. Nick Pedersen, San Rafael radiologist, Ron Simpson of Belvedere and the Mallory work horses.

San Jose's Champions 'Best Ever Assembled'

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (AP) — Observers in this home of Little League baseball were talking today about San Jose, Calif., winners of the 16th World Series, as possibly the greatest Little League team ever assembled.

The San Jose players won the title Saturday by beating Kankakee, Ill., 3-0. Ted Campbell, a 12-year-old pitcher who is 6-feet-1 inch and weighs 210 pounds in the official league scales, pitched a no-hitter in the final.

His mates collected two unearned runs in the fourth inning, and shortstop Vaughn Takaha hit a home run over the center field fence in the fifth inning for the California runs.

Takaha also pitched a one-hitter over the Mexicans in the semifinal.

Observers who had seen most or all of the 16 World Series pointed out that San Jose produced two of the finest pitchers in the history of the organization in Takaha and Campbell, a slick infield, good catchng, and a fine outfield, anchored by Mike Ucci in left feld. Ucci saved the Mexico game with a leaping catch of a ball heading over the fence and batted .600 in the three games.

Hall of Famer Jackie Robinson, who did the television broadcast of the final game, said Takaha was the outstanding player in the series.

"He has all the moves. If he develops as he should, he could have a fine future in professional baseball," Robinson said.

Ursala Hoetger was the lone triple winner for Tam. Double winners were Penny Krieger and Steve Bush.

Marinites At Demo Session

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Marinites played key roles over the weekend as the Democratic Party held its bi-annual convention and State Central Committee meeting in Sacramento.

Roger Kent of Kent Woodlands wound up his two year term as state chairman and was immediately elected Northern California chairman, a position from which he could step into the state chairmanship again in two years.

Mrs. Elizabeth Gatov of Kent Woodlands, California national committeewoman, introduced the main speaker, Sen. Clair Engle, to the committee meeting; escorted newly elected women's chairman, Jane Morrison of San Francisco to the podium; nominated Ann Alanson of San Francisco as Northern Women's Chairman, and explained the stand of the Democratic party on paying voter registrars for registering Democratic voters.

Mrs. Nancy Swadesh of Mill Valley, was re-elected co-chairman of the First Congressional District Caucus with Norm Williamson of Ukiah, but most of her time was spent as a member of the resolutions committee through which she passed a resolution praising Point Reyes Seashore and urging appropriation of money by this Congress to make initial purchases of the 53,000 acre peninsula. It didn't get through, however, when the Central Committee meeting adjourned with a dozen resolutions, including this one, not acted upon.

Robert Carrow of Novato, Assembly candidate, appeared before the state platform committee favoring more local control in location of highways. He won a section in the party platform which says: "No freeway is constructed through an area without the approval of the local government agency involved. Yet the recent developments have shown that this problem needs still further attention to insure that the interest of those in the area are protected."

Carrow had attempted to get a stronger plank favoring maximum local autonomy in routing of freeways and highways, but after considerable argument, the platform committee rejected the stronger wording.

Among the other Marinites who participated were County Central Committee Chairman Peter Allen Smith, Muriel Appenzeller, Albert Gately, Vera Schultz, Jody Becker, Caryl Conner and Nancy Strawbridge.

Kent got the major acclaim. He opened both the session of the state convention and of the state committee. Stanley Mosk, attorney general and acting convention chairman, took over from Kent "with thanks and best wishes."

After he opened the state convention he stepped down as chairman saying, "Thank you from the bottom of my heart for the opportunity you've given me to serve as your chairman for two years, two years of great opportunity and challenge."

Then he seconded the nomination of Eugene L. Wyman of Los Angeles to succeed as state chairman. Wyman, following election, offered "warm gratitude" to Kent "whose leadership has maintained our strong political position and whose energy and discernment I shall try my best to emulate."

Kent won more praise from Sen. Joseph A. Rattigan of Santa Rosa, who nominated him for Northern California chairman. Rattigan called Kent "the polar star to which North Coast Democrats always look and by which they navigate."

Mrs. Gatov, Kent and Wyman held a press conference at which Wyman and Kent lashed out as "smear attacks" which "seem to happen to people who run against Richard Nixon."

Mrs. Gatov, as state registration chairman, discussed the current controversy over offer of 15 cents per Democratic voter registered by so-called "volunteer" registrars. She said the Democratic Party had considered them volunteers and not county employees. If the system is illegal, she said, they will stop it.

However, she said she would urge the Democrats to pay the 15 cents for both Republicans and Democrats or any other voter registered. And she urged the Republicans to do likewise.

Two Hurt As Car Goes Out Of Control

Two Daly City women suffered minor injuries when their car went out of control and struck a guard rail on Highway 101 near Puerto Suello Hill Saturday night.

The California Highway Patrol said the southbound car, driven by Anita Ann Drayton, 52, swerved and struck the curb and guard rail. Mrs. Drayton and her passenger, Ann E. Kiley, were treated for cuts and bruises at San Rafael General Hospital.

Democrats Wind Up Conclave With Fight

cans would charge that they embraced them. He said the GOP had dodged the John Birch issue and the Democrats should not dodge the Communist issue.

Miller and the CDC faction won a roll call 267-193, but Unruh got the last word. He noted that the total vote was 12 short of a quorum.

That forced the state committee to adjourn with no resolution at all, and a dozen others not acted upon, including ones praising Governor Brown's fiscal policies, urging immediate appropriation of funds for Point Reyes Seashore and opposing a return to cross-filing.

Among the resolutions passed was one calling on Nixon to avoid smear tactics and pointing out that bumper strips reading "Is Brown Pink?" had appeared recently.

Eugene L. Wyman, 38-year-old Los Angeles attorney who was elected new Democratic state chairman, said he didn't know who put out the strips.

If the party can find out, he said, a civil libel suit may be filed. He said he expects the campaign to turn into one of the "ugliest campaigns this nation has ever seen."

Another resolution praised the Long Beach Press-Telegram and Reporter Magazine for articles about a purported $205,000 loan from Hughes Tool Co. to Nixon's brother, Don.

Assemblyman Jerome R. Waldie of Antioch demanded that Nixon reveal "every last shred of information" about the loan. He said the issue is Niron's "political morality and ethics."

The committee also went on record against Prop. 24, the Louis Francis Anti-Communist Amendment, and for Prop. 1A, the 270-million-dollar state bond issue.

The platform adopted Saturday night pledged four more balanced budgets with no increase in consumer or person income taxes.

It opposed witch hunts and John Birchism, called for more liberal unemployment insurance, strong civil rights laws, medicare under Social Security.

Republican State Chairman Casper W. Weinberger of San Francisco immediately issued a statement calling the platform "empty election year promises and demagoguery at its worst."

The biggest ovation of the weekend came when Sen. Clair Engle said he expects the Republicans to drag the Chessman case into the campaign, and added:

"I am thankful that we have a governor who sweats it out because he thinks human life is precious."

Contented Cows Make Audience

FRANKLIN, Ky. (AP) — Kenneth L. Fleming likes to talk to his cows, and he has made it pay off. Fleming recently won his third prize in three years in a Future Farmers of America speaking contest.

Asked the secret of his success, Fleming said, "I practice my speeches while milking the cows."

Criticizes Republicans for opposing special pay for registrars who sign up new voters. The Democrats asked the Republicans to join in contributing equally to a fund to increase the compensation for registrars.

Sausalito Council To Discuss Zoning

The Sausalito City Council will hold a continued public hearing at an adjourned meeting tomorrow to discuss the proposed new zoning ordinance.

It will also take up a proposed interim lot split ordinance which would give the planning commission the right to refuse any lot split which doesn't conform to the proposed new zoning ordinance. The meeting is at 8 p.m. in the city hall.

NO MONEY DOWN when you "Charge it" at Wards

LITTLE Mark Rathbun, whose mother, Mrs. S. S. Rathbun of Mill Valley, finds "The Cottage" a source of real bargains, is very proud of the wardrobe he was able to find for his teddy bear. Teddy is wearing Mark's favorite outfit, a baseball suit. (Independent-Journal photos by Bob Hax)

Mrs. Kenneth Bauder, manager of "The Cottage" in Mill Valley, a shop at 12 Madrona Avenue, suggests that Becky Westberg buy this new dress for her doll, "Timmie." Custom wardrobes for dolls made by Mrs. A. W. Wilkerson are a specialty of the shop. Becky is the daughter of Mrs. Robert Westberg of Mill Valley, chairman of the Mill Valley unit of the Family Service League.

League's Cottage Helps To Dress Youngsters Dolls And Teddybears

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

All set to help with the problem of outfitting youngsters for school is the Family-Service-League-sponsored "The Cottage" in Mill Valley.

"We have literally hundreds of jackets and sweaters," said Mrs. Kenneth Bauder, manager of this little shop specializing in "used usefuls." So wide is the variety and size range of clothing stocked by the shop that occupies the entire white cottage at 21 Madrona Avenue, that even children have found it an excellent spot to get clothes for their dolls and teddy bears.

There are clothes for adults, too, as well as furniture, appliances, books, plants and many other things. It is considered a clearinghouse for cribs, high chairs and baby buggies.

IT'S SURPRISING in what excellent condition the things are that people donate," Mrs. Bauder continued, "though we do have some mending and ironing to do and some buttons to sew on. We are very proud of our senior citizens who do all of this work, and we would like to take this opportunity to thank them.

They are Mesdames Lillian Cook, Louise Chapenot, Elsie Hussey, Grace Ashcroft and Marie Bruhl, all of Mill Valley, and Mr. Charles Prins of Mill Valley, who helps with furniture mending, cleanup and anything we ask him to do.

"WE'RE ALSO grateful to the Tres Altas girls of the Marin YWCA who come in on the second and fourth Saturdays of the month to help with preparation of things for sale and with the selling too.

"They are Tina Baldwin, Sue Dulebohn, Loretta Guth, Eileen Mayer, Pam McKinney, Eileen O'Connell, Moira O'Connor, Paula Roemer, Joan Wells, Sara Hatch and Michelle Thompson. Their advisor is Miss Carla Henry of Mill Valley.

"Our sign was made by Mrs. Ralph H. Potter. We are grateful too to "The Office", which devoted proceeds from a spaghetti dinner to our funds, and to the Mill Valley Garbage Company for picking up cartons without charge."

MRS. BAUDER went on,

"I'LL TAKE that one," says Jenny Westberg finally, after finding it difficult to make a selection from an assortment of frocks for dolls at "The Cottage." Considering the same problem of what to buy for her doll, "Mimi," is Jenny's little sister, Katie.

CHANGING his teddy bear's costume from baseball suit to overalls is Mark Rathbun, while David Stubblebine watches. David happened to be at "The Cottage" with his mother, Mrs. J. M. Stubblebine, president of the Family Service League, which is responsible for operating "The Cottage" specializing in "used usefuls."

SEW SIMPLE

Pinning, Stitching Seams Up From Hemline Smoothes Them

By EUNICE FARMER

"Regardless of the type of material I use, I find that when I stitch seams, the fabric on top scoots or stretches little by little so that by the time I get close to the hemline I find it necessary to remove some of the basting in order not to have a puckered seam. At the same time the top fabric is about ½ inch longer than the underneath fabric and, therefore, I must trim to have an even hemline." Mrs. P.B.

Dear Mrs. P.B.:

There are two very simple ways of overcoming this common problem. First, I would suggest pinning your seams instead of basting. Place your pins horizontally to the vertical seam and space them about 2 inches apart. When you pin your seams, the fabric cannot slip forward.

The second, equally important tip would be always to stitch skirt seams from the hem upwards to the waistline. This will help preserve the grain line of the curved seam and will make the seam lay smoother.

"I loved your booklet on making rope belts and have used this and the other trimming suggestions on many of my good clothes. The last time I made a rope belt, I only had a few scraps of fabric left and had to piece the bias strips in several places. When I turned the tubing, it seemed to get lumpy wherever I had joined the bias strips and it was impossible to make it smooth after it was turned. Can you tell me what I was doing wrong?" Mrs. K.E.M.

Dear Mrs. K.E.M.:

Whenever you have to piece the bias strips for any kind of cording that will have to be turned inside out, carefully baste the edges of the seam to the bias strip with colored thread. In this way they cannot bunch together and make your cording lumpy. By using a colored thread, it easily can be removed after the cording is completed.

Here's a suggestion for removing fancy buttons from garments that are to be cleaned or laundered. It comes from Mrs. Hugh Lane, 299 Spring Ave., Pomeroy, Ohio. She writes:

"Use a double strand of a colored thread and make a small stitch in the spot for the button and tie the ends securely. This will save many countless minutes and just as much patience when you are replacing the buttons."

This time-saving suggestion wins for Mrs. Lane the week's prize tailor trix pressing board.

"I am very long-waisted. How do I lengthen the waist on a sheath dress that has no seam at the waist and the long, fitted darts are set in. I found your information on the 'bust' dart very helpful, as that was also a problem of mine." Mrs. T.V.F.

Dear Mrs. T.V.F.:

When you have to make an alteration of this kind, you must cut your pattern several inches above the waistline and spread it the exact amount you will need. Carefully measure yourself from the shoulder to the waistline, starting between the shoulder and the arm hole and bringing the tapeline over the bust and to the waist.

Take the same measurement in the back. Don't add any fabric for ease since there is no place for it to go in a fitted garment. I also would suggest you baste the darts until you have a fitting. When you are ready for a fitting, tie a string very tightly around your natural waistline. Mark your dress with pins at your true waistline. All darts must be the deepest at the exact waistline and then taper to each end.

After the darts have been stitched, clip the dart at the exact waistline to release the fabric for a better fit. If there is any strain on your garment at the waistline, be sure to attach grosgrain ribbon to the inside of the dress, handwhipping it to each seam and dart and then fastening it separately at the side seam.

Hazing Of Freshmen Students A Problem In Many High Schools

Do sophomores pick on freshmen at your high school? I hope not. Hazing is a thing of the past in well-led schools. It still occurs in schools with weak principals.

Were you teased when you were a freshman? Then you know what it is like. Maybe you had to scrub the entrance steps with a toothbrush? Perhaps you objected and were swatted? In some schools, sophomore boys used to knock down freshmen boys, take off their pants and hoist the clothing up the flagpoles.

I'll never forget catching some bullies in the act of forcing a crippled freshman boy to eat grass. Their victim had cerebral palsy. He couldn't answer their questions. He tried to, and made faces. The boys thought he was poking fun at them. I stopped them quickly, but the damage was done. The crippled boy had a relapse and never recovered. His education ended that day. I've been a dedicated enemy of hazing ever since.

Good principals no longer permit hazing. They have found it is possible to replace the traditional "Hell Week" with "Welcome Week." They arrange special meetings for freshmen. They get student leaders to greet the newcomers and help them feel at home. They have their counselors available to answer questions about programs and classes. They set up a plan by which "big brothers" and "big sisters" escort the timid students to class and see they get good starts. You now find "welcome weeks" all over the country.

Will you check on your high school? Students will tell you what happens. If they report that hazing persists, call the principal. Offer to help him set up welcoming activities. Let him know you disapprove the rough stuff. You'll be doing him a favor and helping some kids who need it.

(A) I don't know the pupils in your friend's school. But for the country as a whole, it is not true. There has been an upgrading of education at all levels since Russia set up its first sputnik. In many communities the improvement is astonishing.

"People who patronize the shop are not necessarily in the low income group," she explained, for women with a number of children bring in the outgrown clothes and pick up others. They patronize the shop not only because it is a worthy cause but because it is a good way to save money—and who doesn't need to save money these days?

"Another surprising fact is that it is almost at times like a little social club with the same people coming in week after week, some just to visit."

WHEN ONE little girl visited the shop several times carrying a naked doll, Mrs. Bauder's mother, Mrs. A. W. Wilkinson of Stockton, got the idea of making doll clothes from materials given to the shop. Hence, any little girl may now get a custom made wardrobe for her doll at the shop.

Established less than two years ago, "The Cottage" averages $50-$100 a week income. Operating expenses are mainly rent, so that most of this amount is devoted by the Family Service League to the support of The Family Service Agency of Marin.

Mrs. J. M. Stubblebine of Strawberry is president of the Family Service League.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Phoney Testimonials Deceptive, Represent Disregard For Honesty

VAN DELLEN

Phony testimonials are deceptive and represent a gross disregard for honesty. A year ago Mickey Mantle promised the Federal Trade commission he no longer would indorse a brand of milk he did not drink.

We hope other champions will do likewise and help in a small way to reduce the moral decay so prevalent in this country. There is no harm in testimonials provided they are true, free of misleading implications, and reflect the current opinion of the author.

MEDICAL testimonials are utilized frequently to prove the value of patent medicines and other nostrums. They are worthless because the writer's problems (and, all too often, the source) are not investigated and credit is given where credit is not due.

In addition, only the favorable testimonials are advertised. Nothing is said about customers who ask for their money back or who died. As a matter of fact, the failures rarely write so the manufacturer gets a lopsided account of his product.

MRS. LEDLAGG suffered periodically from nervous fatigue. A friend told her about Super-T, a "marvelous tonic." It worked like a charm and she was so elated she sat down and wrote the manufacturer. The company was highly pleased with the testimonial and included it in their next advertising brochure.

Shortly thereafter, Super-T began to lose its magic power and Mrs. Ledlagg complained of being tired and listless as before. This is an old story to physicians because the only cure for fatigue is to find and eliminate the cause. Tonics offer only temporary relief and are not the solution to the problem.

MEANWHILE, the manufacturer continues to employ this and other testimonials telling the same story. The unfavorable letters, if any, are thrown in the wastebasket. The more unscrupulous dealer often makes up his own testimonials.

Ethical pharmaceutical companies conduct control studies on new products. They prepare two sets of capsules, identical in appearance. One set contains the new drug and the other, an inert substance such as starch or sugar. Each has a code number that is known only to a disinterested party. The final results are determined after a sizeable number of people have been given some of each.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.)

PHLEBITIS

A. Y. writes: Is milk leg the same as a blood clot in the leg?

REPLY

A blood clot in the main vein of the leg is followed by swelling that some laymen call milk leg, especially when the thrombosis occurs after childbirth. In the strict sense, milk leg involves the lymph passageways. Swelling stems from an infection and obstruction of the flow of lymph.

RICH BLOOD

A. B. writes: My husband, 29, went to a doctor for a checkup. He said everything was fine except that my husband's blood was too rich. What did he mean?

REPLY

I assume the physician meant too many blood cells and too much hemoglobin (polycythemia). Additional tests may be necessary to determine whether treatment is needed.

MILK AND GAS

C. M. writes: Does drinking milk cause gas to form in the intestine or does it help eliminate it?

REPLY

The answer depends upon the cause of the gas. In some instances, milk aggravates or produces flatulence; in others, it brings relief.

UPPER ONLY

H. D. writes: Does an upper gastrointestinal series of X-rays include the lower abdomen?

REPLY

No—the esophagus, stomach, and small intestine.

U.S. PRESSES PROBE INTO CUBA SHELLING

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government pressed an investigation today to determine if the shelling of Havana violated the U.S. neutrality act.

The State Department already has pinned on a Miami-based exiled Cuban students group the responsibility for Friday night's attack, but has not said whether the raiders sailed from this country.

The neutrality law prohibits launching from U.S. soil armed attacks on countries not at war with the United States. The Justice Department is trying to find out if prosecutions under this law are called for.

In a Miami news conference yesterday, Juan Manuel Salvat, leader of the students group, declined to say where the ships used in the off-shore shelling of Miramar suburb were based. But, he declared, "I don't feel we have violated any law of any country."

In holding the Students Revolution Directorate responsible for the sortie the State Department warned Saturday that "any repetition of such action by any group could involve the provisions of the Neutrality Act." A spokesman said the government had no advance knowledge of the attack.

While U.S. officials personally have some sympathy for exiled Cubans, they take the view that such hit-and-run attacks only serve to feed Prime Minister Fidel Castro's claim that he needs Communist arms to build up his defenses.

These officials point out that it is virtually impossible to keep a watch on every nook and cranny of the southeastern coastline of the United States. Airports and smaller landing fields are under constant surveillance, they said.

How About A Survey? It's Just Part Of Life

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — Surveys are fast becoming an accepted part of everyone's life. The making of them is a business in itself. They tell where we were, where we are, where we think we're going.

Some businessmen complain they spend so much time filling out questionnaires about what they are doing or intend to do that they don't have time to do it.

But for good or ill, some surveys now affect thinking and planning—and acting. Others so wide is the field of late are laughed off as trivial or self-serving.

The taking of surveys is a wide-spread occupation, in both high and low places. The government, for example does it.

Federal departments ask businessmen how much they plan to spend for plant and equipment. They ask consumers how much they think they're going to spend, for what things, and how they feel about the chances of meeting the bills thus incurred.

Private organizations — educational, industrial, researching, publishing — plow this same field. The effect of these surveys on business thinking and planning is considerable. The surveys thus become both a tool for the economists and a stimulant or deterrent to the economy.

How much consumers trim their own actions to their reading of survey findings is still a question. But it's apparent that many stock traders watch them closely for tips on the business cycle.

Many industrial groups survey the findings and plans of their members. Some aim at gaining information, some at influencing thinking or action.

Individual companies come up with surveys of their own, and their findings often predictably favorable to the future of their products or services.

A common byproduct of a survey is a trend. The company or group or publicity agent making the survey finds that its inquiries all point in one direction — usually a trend spelling profit for the one who made, or paid for, the survey.

The hope is that once a trend is sighted and trumpeted, enough others will want to conform to it to make that trend really profitable.

Originally surveys were mostly designed to gather facts or figures or percentages. There are many refinements of this general idea.

One is called motivational. That is, consumers or businessmen are questioned closely to see why they do this or that, buy this product instead of another. Going a step further the designers of such probings say they can detect subconscious reasons that affect sales, product popularity, or a corporation's image.

Subdivisions of such inquiries are almost infinite. Color experts use them to determine package and product designs. The variations of scent become subjects for consultations in directors' boardrooms. Consumers' ideas about taste, or lack of it, are eagerly sought by makers of beverages.

Sex is very much a part of the surveying gambit. A recent example: A survey has been made of what young couples think of bucket seats in cars as opposed to the old style seats built for togetherness.

The finding: The honeymoon is over when the couple says it sees nothing wrong with bucket seats.

Robbery Suspects Face Hearing

Two men, accused of robbing a Novato grocery store at gunpoint on Aug. 17, will face a preliminary hearing in Marin Municipal Court Wednesday morning.

Harrell, Hill, and a third man, still missing, are suspected of robbing Rayburn's Grocery of about $892 in cash. Sausalito police officers stopped Harrell and Hill in a utes after the holdup. Officers utes after the holup. Officers said a third man jumped out of the car and disappeared.

GOALS SET FOR STATE SCHOOLS

By AUSTIN SCOTT

SACRAMENTO (AP) — More math, more foreign languages, more social studies and most important, more understanding.

Those are the goals set for California's record 4.5 million public school enrollment when the youngsters return to classes next month.

The familiar subject names will frequently cover concepts that weren't thought important even three years ago. And many high school students will find their grammar school brothers and sisters studying the same things they are.

The shifting emphasis from memorizing to understanding, and the trend toward teaching more complicated subjects earlier, are part of an expanding pattern of change that began in the 1950s. Mathematics is a rapidly changing subject that well illustrates the general trend.

From 10 to 15 per cent of California's fourth and seventh graders will begin to study mathematical concepts this year that were formerly taught only to college math majors.

They'll include sets, number theory, mathematical sentences, elementary geometry, functions and probabilities, and number systems different from the one we use that's based on 10.

These concepts are considered important to the understanding of higher mathematics, a subject of increasing importance in a technically oriented society.

The goal is to give elementary school children an organized study of the number system based on understanding rather than memorization.

The focus will be on understanding the nature of arithmetic, not just understanding the rules for its use. There is, educators emphasize, a difference.

The same trends hold for other subjects that aren't changing quite so rapidly. They include foreign languages, science and social studies.

The department of education expects rapid change to hit other fields in the next few years as new textbooks conforming to the new ideas are adopted.

The reasons behind these changes include the discovery that:

Students can learn more, faster and earlier than formerly thought.

And the belief that they must do so, and must keep useless information to a minimum, if they are to avoid getting lost in this fast-paced society.

More foreign languages will be offered earlier this year as districts prepare for the 1965 deadline for every sixth grader and all seventh and eighth graders in elementary schools to study a foreign language.

More of the foreign languages will be taught the way you learned English—speak it first, then learn to read and write.

Science course enrollment has been steadily increasing for the past five years, and there has been some shift in emphasis from the explained to the unexplained, in an effort to teach students how a scientist must think.

More stress will be laid on what the department terms "solid" social studies courses—history and philosophy. There will be a greater emphasis on current events and this country's role in a rapidly changing world.

Mechanical teachers aids — filmstrips, record and tape recorders—will have wider use. And many students will find brightly-written paperback pamphlets to augment their regular texts.

These pamphlets, for the most part, are written in an attempt to weave together separate facets of a subject—math, for instance — and help the student understand and use what he learns from his text books.

Ward's Oakland store has previously handled commercial sales but hasn't been able to cover the Bay Area. Landes will work with industrial firms, governmental and military agencies, railroads, steamships and airlines, hotels and motels and in export.

Among merchandise items Ward sells to the commercial market are appliances, tools, batteries, office equipment, furniture, work clothes, uniforms and many more of its 130,000 commodities.

Russ European Satellites Troubled By Food Shortages, Political Woes

By K. C. THALER

LONDON (UPI) — Russia's European satellites are in trouble.

Food shortages, rising prices, failure to meet production targets, and political problems are causing worry both to ruling satellite regimes and to the Kremlin which supervises them.

Some satellites have resorted to repressive measures to discourage rising criticisms of internal shortcomings. Others have been looking for whipping boys to shift responsibility from members of government and party.

The difficulties, some of them spotlighted by the Communists themselves, evidently are causing growing uneasiness. But so far the ruling regimes appear to have been able to keep their grip on the situation, though the grip has had to be tightened.

The troubles have been publicized lately by a belated purge in Hungary of hard core Stalinists, in Bulgaria, where the regime has ordered forced labor for grumblers, and in Czechoslovakia, where the president has clamped a ban on party critics.

A country by country survey, based partly on official information and partly on reports seeping through the iron curtain, conveys this overall picture:

BULGARIA:

A scheduled Communist Party Congress was put off last month until November to allow for "better mobilization of party forces and those of the nation for the successful achievement of tasks" set by the party earlier this year.

Internal dissensions are seen behind the delay, and the present leadership of party chief Todor Zhivkov is believed under attack.

Agricultural setbacks caused the government to raise prices on July 30, ranging from an average increase of 23.7 per cent for meat to 31.8 per cent for dairy products.

Zhivkov's apparatus is blaming former Stalinist dictator Vulko Chervenkov — who resigned the premiership in 1956 — for the damage suffered by agriculture. Bulgaria failed to meet the targets in the past three years and appears unable to meet this year's target.

Last week the government decreed forced labor and deportation for alleged slackers and other undesirables including "work-shy elements, social parasites and speculators." There is to be no appeal. The party paper Rabotnichesko Delo called for measures against "slanderers and disseminators of harmful rumors." Critics have been threatened with arrest. An engineer was jailed for three years for voicing dissatisfaction with the food price rises.

The Communist Party organ also chided "deliberate absenteeism." It disclosed that of 1,880 industrial enterprises, about one in six have not matched their targets this year.

CZECHOSLOVAKIA:

Prague also postponed its scheduled party congress from this month to the end of the year.

There have been indications of dissension in the top ranks of the leadership and even rumors that its chief, Antonin Novotny, was in serious trouble for his alleged Stalinist attitude.

The troubles first were spotlighted by the arrest earlier this year and subsequent jailing for 15 years of Rudolf Barak, former deputy premier and the minister of interior. He is believed to have been the leader of the moderates and anti-Stalinists in the party.

Earlier this month there came another significant move. The party's central committee recommended that the current five-year plan be scrapped by year's end, that a one-year plan be prepared instead for 1963, and a new long-term plan be worked out for the period 1964-70.

This would play havoc with Moscow's aim to coordinate satellite economic planning with that of Russia in Comecon, the Communist economic alignment. Its members actually earlier arranged to co-ordinate their plans to 1965. The reason for Prague's move is, according to official admission, "defects in balanced development and efficiency, consisting mainly of low standard of management and planning and in the failure to implement planned tasks."

A Yugoslav assessment published in the Jjubliana Daily Delo recently charged that according to experts, de-Stalinization in Czechoslovakia has not gone too deeply below the surface.

Novotny, in a speech before the party, released in mid-August, a month after it was originally made, chided "rumor mongers wishing to create panic and others who lack faith." He complained about subversive work "performed very skillfully."

Novotny warned that the regime will not allow "cunning and hostile attacks against the party under the mask of criticism."

He said that while the party stood for a widening of Socialist Democracy, "this must be accompanied by a strengthening of the whole system of control."

HUNGARY:

Out of the blue, the regime in mid-August announced a purge of Stalinist leaders. They were Matyas Rawosi and Ernoe Geroe, two Hungarian dictators whose policies were largely blamed for the 1956 abortive uprising. They have been formally expelled from the party.

A third figure, former Foreign Minister Karoly Kiss, was stripped of his influence in the party last fall. He has now been expelled from the politbureau.

The move appears to have little practical effect, except perhaps to serve as a warning to remaining Stalinists. It may be designed in part to divert attention from internal problems.

In Hungary, too, agricultural problems plague the regime, and noticeable food shortages in this once food-rich country have been reported.

ROMANIA:

In contrast to Bulgaria and Czechoslovakia, the internal situation here is reported comparatively calm. Virtually no formal de-Stalinization measures have been taken since the Moscow 22nd Party Congress. Experts say the line of party chief Georghiu Dej has been to denounce formally the errors of Stalinism, but otherwise to take no major action.

Farming has been completely collectivized, and according to official statistics less than 5 per cent of the arable land remains in private hands. Private farming came to an end some two years ahead of schedule.

Earlier this year the regime announced plans for agricultural re-organization and for re-distribution of training staffs.

Greater incentives are being offered to collective farmers to secure their collaboration. Dej has promised remuneration for collective farmers.

But planned increases in yields have failed to materialize.

POLAND:

The government's half-yearly report for 1962 said crops had been maintained at last year's level despite bad weather. Significantly, over 90 per cent of Polish farming is not collectivized.

Poland has an agriculture still largely in private hands, and is the only country behind the Iron Curtain that has been spared the serious agricultural setbacks of other communist nations.

Russian price rises and bad weather last June caused temporary panic buying of foodstuffs but supplies are now said to be adequate, unless Russian pressure may require greater food exports from Poland.

EAST GERMANY:

This may be the worst off of the satellites. Recent official reports conceded "an extraordinarily difficult situation" in agriculture. Meat production in the first five months this year was 35,200 tons down, milk 273,000 tons less. The stock of cows was expected to increase this year by 30,000 and of pigs by 250,000. Instead, the number of cows decreased so far by 46,000 and that of pigs by 1,300,000.

The East German production industrial increase, which was given at 12.8 per cent for 1959, is now only 6.2 per cent.

Although the Berlin wall has ended an annual exodus of 200,000 refugees, it has not dried up completely. Moreover, East Germany is said to be facing a drop of 600,000 in the labor force by 1965 as a result of her aging population.

Russia has poured in millions of rubles of aid, while simultaneously stripping East Germany of its industrial output. Now, East Germany is seeking credits from the West Germans.

The effect of all this on Comecon, the Communist economic alignment, could be serious, because economic plans seem to be getting out of gear faster than the Comecon strategists are able to coordinate them.

K.O. Polio Drive Needs Volunteer In Bay Area

Marin County Parent-Teacher associations need 1,200 volunteers to work in the K.O. Polio campaign to immunize 3,500,000 Bay Area residents against the disease.

They will need 400 volunteers to serve as registrars at 19 immunization stations to supply Marin's 160,000 residents with the Sabin oral polio vaccine Sept. 23.

The P-TA is seeking 800 more volunteers to telephone every resident in Marin the Thursday and Friday before K.O. Polio Sunday. The P-TA co-chairmen are Mrs. Bert C. Corona, 25 Sea Way, and Mrs. Harry Wall, 632 Bell Avenue, both of San Rafael.

Sabin vaccine is taken orally with a lump of sugar. A donation of 25 cents a dosage is requested, but vaccine will be supplied free to anyone unable to donate.

Ballet, Dance Classes Will Start Sept. 19

For the third year, Mrs. Virginia Caldwell of Santa Rosa will conduct afternoon ballet and acrobatic dance classes for youngsters in the San Geronimo Valley.

The classes, to be held in the San Geronimo Community Church, will start Sept. 19. Further information can be obtained from Mrs. Rex Bechtel of Woodacre.

Arrests For Auto Theft Jump 76%

The California Highway Patrol's July arrests for auto theft jumped 76 per cent compared to the same month last year, a reflection of the Patrol's recent training emphasis upon identification of stolen vehicles and auto thieves, Commissioner Bradford M. Crittenden said.

"Recoveries of stolen vehicles also were up 22 per cent," he said. Both figures were far higher than the increase in auto thefts, which climbed 11 per cent on the same month to month comparison.
